

GOV. LANDON IN PITTSBURGH

LONDON COURT GIVES MRS. SIMPSON FREEDOM

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The two major candidates for the presidency seem to share a skepticism concerning the reliability of pronouncements made by one of the most volatile of all the campaigners, Governor Landon says that the statement made by Mr. James Roosevelt about closing schools in Kansas is untrue, and that those who repeat it are peddling lies. The governor explains that hundreds of small rural schools have been consolidated in accordance with accepted practice, and that not a single child has been deprived of educational advantages. President Roosevelt is at a disadvantage in dealing with predictions about his policies made by the same speaker. As this is written he has not denied the assertion that he intends to put NRA into the constitution.

We can hardly expect the president to use the vigorous language of Mr. Landon in assailing the veracity of Mr. James Roosevelt. But refutation or confirmation by the president before election would seem to be essential.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Street department employees have started what looks to be a new kind of something of a task. They are hauling leaves from the paved streets of the city. There are tons and tons of them to be collected, it would appear.

One week from today and the millions of the nation will be enroute to the polls to cast their ballots in one of the most momentous elections of many long years.

Weather conditions turned quite snappy last night, but it did not get quite as bad as had been predicted. Local residents were looking for snow but there was only a tiny flurry, so tiny in fact that not many people noticed it.

Downtown stores, one could see today, are giving full recognition to Wednesday's "Community Day" celebration at the New Castle Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. That's a fine spirit—it's the badge of a progressive community. Many windows carry booster signs today for the city's tin industry.

Pedestrians at the main downtown corner of Washington and Mill streets shouldn't do any jaywalking for awhile. City workers today repaired the crossing lines to help promote the cause of safety.

It's a sure thing that more political posters and stickers are seen in homes and in autos this presidential year than in any national campaigns of the past.

"Some of these days those broken post office steps (in the lobby) should be fixed," was the comment of a post office patron this morning. Pa new is informed that soon Washington will award a contract for replacing the treads of both stairways.

Tuesday night of next week will

Seek To Speed Vote Count In West Middlesex

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—The nation need not know how West Middlesex, birthplace of Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican nominee for president, votes until the following morning unless some action is taken to speed up the counting of the 500 ballots, it was revealed today.

The town does not have voting machines and judges and tellers have been unable to complete the count until the following morning in past elections.

There was a possibility voting officials will be asked to count the presidential ballots first just to let the nation know the results in Governor Landon's old home town.

Weatherman Foresees An Average Winter For Western Penna.

By PAUL R. ALLERUP
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—With snow and new low temperatures predicted for this area today, it seemed a good idea to tackle the man who knows all about those things and find out what sort of winter Pennsylvania might expect this winter.

"I guess," the gentleman ventured, "that it'll be an average winter."

The gentleman was William S. Brozman, United States meteorologist stationed here, and when he talks of the weather he's not just making conversation.

More Normal Winter
"After last winter's record-breaking cold and snowfall in the state," Brozman said, "we should have a more normal winter. It is my guess the coming season will be average."

"Average," he explained, meant a mean temperature of 42.9 degrees for November; 33.8 for December; 31.3 for January, and 31.8 for February.

Ready To Return To New York After Tonight's Address In Pittsburgh

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 27.—Gov. Alfred M. Landon, a native son, invaded this Democratic stronghold today after an overnight dash from Philadelphia, where he charged the Roosevelt administration with using public money to "create the most sinister political machine in our history."

The Republican nominee entered this western citadel of the Keystone State to the roaring cheers of thousands. He was to deliver a major address here tonight in Duquesne Gardens, leaving about midnight for New York City to climax his eastern campaign with another major address Thursday night in Madison Square Garden.

Landon will visit Newark, N. J., tomorrow while enroute to New York City. His speech there will be delivered in a downtown theatre.

Sees Victory In State
The Republican nominee came into Western Pennsylvania convinced he will carry the Keystone State on November 3. He said as much to members of his personal party after conferences with scores of G. O. P. leaders from the state. They told him Philadelphia would remain in the Republican column by a reduced margin and while Allegheny county (Pittsburgh) would go Democratic, the vote from scores of counties between the two metropolitan areas would be overwhelmingly Republican.

In Philadelphia, the birthplace of American independence, Landon again struck sledge-hammers blows at the Roosevelt administration. He charged it with using public moneys—the taxpayer's money—to break

Batchelor Says "His Crime Is Refusing To Wear Yoke Of Governor Earle"

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

"New Deal" theories of government and the attendant waste and inefficiency were played Monday night in the Cathedral when a mass meeting was held by the Republican county committee. Rousing speeches, martial music and a general air of victory made the meeting one of the best Republican rallies held in New Castle in many campaigns.

The two main speakers, State Senator Joseph R. Hanley of New York and former Legion state commander James E. Isherwood were bitter in their denunciation of the New Deal and forthright in their demands that "un-American governmental doctrine" be discarded on November 3. Other speakers were E. Arthur Sweeney, candidate for auditor-general; Frank L. Pinola, candidate for state treasurer; Orville Brown, candidate for Congress; State Senator A. S. Batchelor, and the candidates for General Assembly, T. Wilber McCullough and W. Sharp Fullerton.

Opening the mass meeting, the crack junior band of the American Legion presented a number of stirring airs, directed by Joe F. Replogle. Later William O. "Red" Williams led the crowd in singing the "America" and the Republican campaign song, "O Susanna," with words slightly different than those Stephen Foster wrote.

Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the invocation, and Captain Roger W. Rowland, chairman of the county committee, spoke briefly in opening the speaking program.

Not Fighting Democratic Party State Senator Joseph R. Hanley of New York was the first speaker.

Rebels Again Bomb Madrid

Decisive Battle For Spanish Capital Is Believed Imminent

REBELS REPORT STEADY ADVANCE

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 27.—Madrid's leftist defenders rushed strong forces westward to Escorial today to beat back a steady rebel advance, but at the same time the rebels brought up even larger reinforcements in preparation for a battle which may prove decisive in the struggle for the capital.

The insurgents bombed Madrid for the second successive day, dropping their fourth daylight aerial bombardment on the city. The attack was directed at loyalists barracks and the capital's railway stations.

Rebel radio broadcasts reported victories for the insurgents over a wide front. A Seville announced said seven government planes had been shot down recently on the Talavera De La Reina front and that only one rebel car had been grounded during that time.

Fighting southward to close the gap in Madrid's siege walls, rebel troops today occupied the ancient Roman town of Guadalajara, 35 miles northeast of the capital, according to insurgent reports.

Little resistance was put up by the defenders of Guadalajara, town of 16,000 where Castilians centuries ago fought against the Moors, the rebel reports said.

Ready For Final Drive
The campaign against Guadalajara brought the rebels more than 50 miles down the Madrid-Valencia railroad from Sigüenza, where the insurgents first cut that important railway line.

Around to the west and south of Madrid, loyalist counter-offensives have all been repulsed, and the stage of this huge amphibious war is now set for the final, decisive push against the capital.

Arranquez, on the railroad south of Madrid, has been completely cut off by the rebels.

Three rebel columns today are

South Side residents are all agog today as the time nears when they will be hosts and hostesses to a crowd of upwards of 10,000 persons expected to assemble for another colorful South Side Halloween celebration Wednesday night starting at 8 o'clock.

General Chairman William Druschel, of the South Side Board of Trade, which is again sponsoring the affair, stated that all plans have been completed. All the committees have done their part.

"We want the entire community to come down to the South Side and enjoy a night of fun," he said. "No floats or political advertisements will be allowed in the parade. We invite everybody to the South Side tomorrow night," he continued.

President Joseph Frenkel put his O. K. to the plans and stated that New Castle residents are in, for one of the biggest celebrations in the history of the city.

President Is Preparing For Campaign Wind-Up

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—After five days of intensive preparation, President Roosevelt prepared to haul out his heaviest campaign artillery and depart tonight for a final quest of the all-important electoral votes possessed by New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

In a final series of speeches in the one week intervening before election day, the president was expected to summarize his own claims for re-election and hammer with last-minute vigor at what he conceived to be fallacies in the Republican platform and the promises of his opposition ticket.

Late tonight the presidential campaign special gets under way again for Bayonne, N. J., where tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt will proceed by boat to Bedloe's Island in New York harbor to participate in 50th anniversary ceremonies at the base of the Statue of Liberty.

The president has denied himself virtually all callers since his return to Washington last Thursday night from his New England swing so he might concentrate on the material going into speeches to be delivered in New York City, Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg, Pa., Camden, N. J., Wilmington, Del., Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Flexing its shiny steel muscles, the Navy proudly went on parade today.

From the far-off China station to the desiccated waters of the Mediterranean, where the U. S. European squadron stands watch over Americans caught in the whirlpool of Spain's uncertain destiny, America's first line of defense "dressed ship" for public inspection.

Today is Navy Day and the anniversary of the natal day of President Theodore Roosevelt. It was under his dynamic leadership that the world first realized the United States was a first class seapower.

The occasion evoked a prayer of thanks from Franklin D. Roosevelt for the peaceful relations of the United States with the rest of the world and words of anxiety over the troubled European situation.

The president wrote Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson: "Although happily we are on terms of peace and amity with all nations."

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—Despite near freezing weather, a crowd of more than 500 enthusiastic Republicans was on hand today when the Sunflower Special bearing Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, arrived at the Pennsylvania Station here at 8:10 this morning.

The governor did not immediately appear, his aides explaining he was remaining about to rest briefly. Strains of "Oh, Susanna," filled the railroad terminal as the crowd, wearing huge Sunflowers and straw farmer hats, prepared a rousing welcome.

In Conferences
At 9:30, the governor left his train and drove to a downtown hotel where he went into conference with state and county Republican leaders. With sirens screaming the Landon car behind a motor-cycle escort, headed a long line of cars filled with happy Landon boosters. # SOVIET SUBMARINES READY

Could Protect Russian Ships

Report Moscow Has Decided To Send Fleet To Spanish Waters

SUB CONSTRUCTION IS BEING SPEEDED

By LINDSEY PARROTT
International News Service
Sports Editor

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The Soviet Union is in position to answer by wholesale submarine warfare the threats to sink her ships if a Russian convoy of munitions is sent to the Leftist forces in Spain.

This, International News Service learned today, is the tacit threat reported Soviet overture for permission to use French Mediterranean ports as bases.

Deny Reports
The reports, denied by the French and Soviet governments, said a Soviet request was sent to France to permit use of the ports as Russian naval bases, adding Moscow has decided to send a fleet to Spanish waters as the first move toward intervention in the Spanish conflict.

International News Service learned that while the Soviet surface fleet is negligible, the Russians have a heavy concentration of submarines in the Black Sea, sufficient to protect Soviet shipments to Barcelona if a passage through the Bosphorus and Mediterranean bases are in any way available.

More than a year ago this correspondent saw as many as a dozen submarines at Sebastopol during Red maneuvers in the Black Sea.

Speed Submarine Construction
It is understood this fleet now numbers close to 20. These are mostly 750-ton submarines with a short cruising radius but heavy torpedo armament, and they are capable of seriously endangering warships in restricted Mediterranean waters.

Russian submarine construction, it is understood, recently has been speeded up. Factories in Moscow, Leningrad and the Ural district have turned out dismantled submarines which have been shipped to the Black Sea, where they have been assembled and launched.

The reported Soviet overtures to Paris for use of Mediterranean ports brought quick denials from both Paris and Moscow, but nevertheless it was claimed the overtures were made, only to be turned down by France after Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos held a busy telephone conversation with officials in London.

WEATHERMAN FORESEES AVERAGE WINTER

for the four months were, respectively, 43.0; 24.8; 32.1, and 33.2. Not being a weather expert, the interviewer suggested that "mean temperatures" didn't seem to tell the story, since a rapid mental calculation brought out the fact that last winter's bitter cold weather, in figures, was only 6.7 degrees lower than normal, all told.

"Well," Brotzman said, "those are the figures, though I agree they don't seem to tell the story. Anyway, anybody can make figures say anything they want them to say."

No Special Extremes
"At any rate, with or without the figures, I'm quite sure the state's weather these coming months will be neither exceptional in severe nor particularly mild. Weather records over a period of years show fairly conclusively that a very cold winter is usually followed by a normal one, just as a hot summer is generally followed by one less extreme."

Last year's snowfall in the state of 63.6 inches was a near record. Only in one year since weather records have been kept—in the winter of 1913-14—was that fall exceeded. The winter of 13-14 saw a snow precipitation in the state of 78.5 inches.

As with the temperature, Brotzman expected the snowfall in Pennsylvania this year would be average, or close to it. Taking the federal weather bureau's figure at face value, Pennsylvania will have 32.3 inches of snow this winter.

"Be sure to point out, however," Brotzman warned, "that I'm only guessing. I'm not a long-range forecaster, and the weather bureau makes no long-range predictions. For all I know, this coming winter may be the worst yet, or the mildest yet. It is my personal opinion, though, that the season won't be as bad as last."

Under orders from Secretary Swanson the Navy "dressed ship" from 8 a. m. to sunset. ## Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Adda Warnock Vance.
Beckoning to her as she slept, death claimed Mrs. Adda Warnock Vance, 83, of 101 Pine street, Monday afternoon, October 26 in the James Memorial Hospital at 6:25 p. m. Her death brought release from pain that had wracked her body for weeks. About four weeks ago she was taken to the hospital but it was apparent then that the end was not far off.

Mrs. Vance was a pioneer resident of New Castle. She was born in this city February 23, 1853, a daughter of the late Ex-Sheriff William Gaston Warnock and Catherine Lamont Warnock. In 1889 she was married to William H. Vance, who preceded her in death in 1913. Two brothers, former mayor Charles L. Warnock, of this city and William W. Warnock, of Pittsburgh also preceded her in death.

She was a gentlewoman in the true sense of the word. To those who called her friend she was refuge in time of trouble and no one was ever turned away from her without sympathetic attention. Never in the white light of public attention, Mrs. Vance was cherished as a true friend and a Christian citizen by those fortunate enough to know her.

Before infirmity made it impossible she was active in the work of the Old Timers' Reunion, and as long as it was physically possible she was at the annual reunions held in Cascade Park. She also interested herself in the Reynoldstown School Society.

Mrs. Vance was a charter member of the Second United Presbyterian church and had seen the church grow from a small handful of people to its present position of prominence in the church world. It was citizens like Mrs. Vance who were responsible for the growth not only of this church but of others.

Surviving her is one son, Clifford L. Vance, court clerk of the courts of Lawrence County, who resided with his mother, also one sister, Miss Laura Warnock, of Milton street.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence, 101 Pine street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and will be in charge of the Rev. C. K. McGeorge, D. D. pastor of the Second U. P. church. Interment will be private at Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Fred Barkhamer.
Mrs. Emma Barkhamer, wife of Fred Barkhamer, of West Middlesex, died at 5:35 a. m. today in Buhi hospital, Sharon.

Mrs. Lula Harris.
Mrs. Lula Harris, aged 54 years, of 818 South Mercer street, died in the James Memorial hospital at 2:25 a. m. today after a short illness.

Mrs. Harris had been a resident of this city for the past four years. She was a member of the Union Baptist church here and the Order of Eastern Star in Georgia.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Cecelia Plaze, five daughters, Mrs. Mabel Good, Mrs. Lucy Harper, Mrs. Henrietta Gross, all of Tennessee, Mary Wynne of New Castle, and Nettie Barker, of Cleveland, O., and three sons, Oscar, Homer and John Harden, of Georgia.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Daniel Bevan.
Daniel Bevan, aged 66 years, died suddenly at his home, 428 Laurel boulevard, last night. Mr. Bevan became ill while working at the New Castle airport this morning. Returning to his home he went upstairs to lie down. Death followed in a short time.

Further announcement and the time of the funeral will be announced in Wednesday's News.

Interment At Oak Park
Funeral services for Mrs. William T. Williams, aged 64, of 1720 Jacobs road, Youngstown, O., are being conducted at Youngstown early this afternoon. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery, New Castle.

Besides her husband she leaves four daughters, Mrs. Emily C. Causser, Beaver, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Davis, Cleveland; Mrs. Mildred Blitsa, Cleveland; and Miss Grace J. Williams, city; a son, Howard W. Hoover, Mendocino, Pa., and eight grandchildren. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Laura Metzel, Cleveland, and Mrs. Hazel Wright, Youngstown, and two brothers, Stewart Wilson, Wooster, and John P. Large delegations from nearby communities have given notice they will be on hand to welcome the Republican standard bearer. A large delegation boarded the "Sunflower Special" at Greensburg to say "hello" to the presidential candidate.

MASQUERADE DANCE AT FIELD CLUB SATURDAY

In keeping with the traditions of the New Castle Field Club, the annual Halloween masquerade dance will be staged in the club ballroom on Saturday evening of this week, for its membership.

Members are already busily engaged in getting out old fogs tucked away in antique trunks stored in the attic, for this gala occasion. The party will not be a fancy dress masquerade, but just an old fashioned masked jubilee into which every character to the scare crow in the farmers yard to Cinderella of Fairyland, will enter. Pappys old overalls and his straw hat will be perfectly adapted for the competition in the mummies parade at the club on this date, as well as Little Miss Muffett or Mickey Mouse.

Dancing will be in progress at 9:30 o'clock, and a series of prizes will be offered, for various fun making and hair raising events that will involve every one in the program of entertainment. Just one round of hilarity from the time the band strikes up until the last character leaves the ball room after midnight, is promised by the social committee in charge.

ELMS BRIDGE CLUB NEWLY ORGANIZED

MINISTERS WIVES ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. C. B. Winger provided a very lovely Monday evening for the ministers' wives at her home on Park avenue. The usual delightful informal program was followed and at the close Mrs. Winger, with the assistance of Mrs. A. M. Stump, served a tastefully prepared lunch.

One of the principal features of the evening was the welcoming of four new members to the club—Mrs. Merrill Cadwell and Mrs. Charles N. Moore of New Castle, and Mrs. W. F. Byers and Mrs. J. Ralph Neale, of New Wilmington.

The annual election of officers resulted in Mrs. John J. McVain being chosen to head the organization for the coming year. Mrs. A. M. Stump was elected vice president and Mrs. R. B. Withers, secretary-treasurer.

With the death of Mrs. Rees T. Williams the club lost one of its most beloved members. Resolutions in tribute to her memory were drawn up at last night's gathering. Mrs. Williams had served last year as secretary of the organization.

The next meeting will be on November 30 at the residence of Mrs. Stump, North Jefferson street.

QUEEN ESTHER CLASS HAS HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A gala Halloween celebration took place in the dimly lighted basement of the Third U. P. church Monday evening when members of the Queen Esther class regaled their husbands and boy friends informally at a masquerade party.

The affair was set off in a weird setting of corn stalks, leaves scattered about, pumpkin faces, black cats, tombstones and other items of witchcraft adding to the gruesome title of "A forest of strange things." The decorating committee responsible for these surroundings, composed Mrs. Willard McGowan, Mrs. William McBride, Mrs. Cecil Potter, Mrs. Lloyd Wilmer and Mrs. Howard Reynolds.

In the guessing "Who's Who" contest which launched activities, Mrs. Willard McGowan received the prize. The program committee, composed of Mrs. Emerson Flansberg, Mrs. Garth Rapson and Marie Douglas took charge of the social hours and conducted a series of amusing contests. Allan McKissick received the main prize. Later they introduced Harold Walton who contributed a clarinet solo with Mrs. Harold Walton accompanist. The "Sunflower Minstrel" made up of Mrs. Morris Houk, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. William Mooney and Mrs. Ed O'Neill, added much to the entertainment. Fortune telling by Mrs. Garth Rapson was another cleverly conducted feature.

A special number, consisting of a men's style show, completed the entertainment. Miss Marietta Daugherty announced the gentlemen and gave data on the outfits provided by Mrs. Harold Walton. Those taking part were Wilbur McKibben, William McBride, Thomas Baskerville, Robert Gibson, Jack Kenahan, Harold Walton, Bernard Houk and Willard McGowan.

Refreshments were served at a late hour by a committee of women, including Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Wilbur McKibben, Mrs. Allan McKissick, Mrs. Thomas Baskerville, Betty Gray and Peggy Fox. The banquet tables were appropriately decorated in orange and black colors, where places marked for 55. As a special guest they had James Van Gordon.

MR. DOUGLAS ENLISTS

THE statement by Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget, that he will not for Governor Landon is no surprise to those who have followed his acute analyses of the New Deal's financial policies. His declaration is doubly significant. It comes from one who is an authority on government finance and a genuine Democrat.

It was Mr. Douglas' official duty to try to fit out to income. He struggled on for a year and a half and gave it up as a bad job. Mr. Roosevelt was glad to see him go. Anybody who has the temerity to talk economy, to say nothing of insisting on its practice, is anathema to the New Deal.

Mr. Douglas asserts that on its record "the policies and acts of the New Deal are essentially those of a personal government marked by the arbitrary and intolerant exercise of authority and the extravagant use of the public moneys."

A staunch Democrat, he feels that to support the New Deal would be to "dishonor the deep convictions of a lifetime." Mr. Douglas has plenty of company in the persons of other lifelong Democrats who have proclaimed themselves to be Americans first.

VERMONT'S SPEED LAW

Determined to join in the nationwide crusade for highway safety, Vermont has introduced a new speeding law. Motorists must not exceed 45 miles an hour under any conditions. The penalty for violation is immediate suspension of the driver's license.

It is to be doubted whether the plan will get results. Speed in itself is not always an accident hazard. There are some circumstances, indeed, wherein it is actually safer than snailish driving.

Recklessness, when linked with excessive speed, is thoroughly objectionable. But even here the punishment should be determined by flagrant disregard of the rights of others rather than by the precise number of miles per hour.

However, Vermont's experiment will be watched with interest in all parts of the country. It at least promises to make the motoring public accident conscious, and to that extent may tend to curb the wild highway performances of drivers otherwise lacking all sense of restraint and moderation.

FOR LONGER AND SANER LIFE

Dr. R. C. Buerki's warning to the surgical congress at Philadelphia that we are trying to live too fast is timely and his alarm is well-founded. His plea for more sleep and less worry, more play and less toil, comes in a period when the whole nation seems tense with anxieties, bearing burdens which seemingly accumulate as years pass. It is not unreasonable for him to predict that in a short time man will have lived a lifetime at the age of 20.

Specifically, the former president of the American Hospital Association cites hardened arteries as a toll of our rapid pace. And for a chief cause he blames "the prevalent American idea of the desirability of making a large amount of money in a short time"—a get-rich-quick motive which is not limited to America.

But it must be evident to all that people are burning candles at both ends today as never before, however vague or varied the reasons therefore. And if we are now living 100 years in 50, as Dr. Buerki insists, spending the last third of our lives recuperating from early strains and dying far ahead of our time, his grave warning merits serious thinking by everybody who really enjoys living.

SYMBOL OF A TRAGIC ERA

A news report from Miami Beach tosses the memory back to an era of American history which, although it dates but a few years ago, seems to belong to a far distant past, before civilization had begun to make progress and when ideals and customs of life were primitive.

The report tells of the United States government's plans to sell at auction next month the big white villa on Palm Island, with tiled swimming pool and extensive grounds running down to Biscayne Bay, that once was the home of Al Capone.

It was here that one of the country's most notorious criminals lived—a young man who dealt all forms of corruption and law defiance. He lived in a setting of grandeur, with an army of servants and bodyguards, and he entertained his friends in lavish style. Although a known criminal, a corrupter of police, courts and other agencies of law and of justice, he lived for years, like a robber baron in his stronghold, beyond restraint or punishment.

Looking back upon that dark past from the vantage point of a more enlightened day, it seems almost unbelievable that Capone and others of his breed were once dominant influences in the national life, that they flourished unmolested by law and produced a reign of terror.

The fact that all of this is in the past and that major gangsters are either with Capone in Alcatraz or under the sod with Dillinger, is as important to our national life as emergence from the depression.

Apparently the only thing that can't be taxed to death is the American taxpayer's patience.

Once All Walked. Not Now.
In 75 Years, Much Done.
Wise Buying Pays.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A PRACTICAL man is Mussolini, making real the "deeds not words" motto of the late Theodore Roosevelt. Peace, he vows, interests him more than anything. Saying "we hold out an olive branch" he adds this:

"But pay attention. This olive branch emerges from an immense forest. It is a forest of 8,000,000 bayonets—8,000,000 bayonets whittled to razor-like sharpness and entrusted to young and fearless hearts."

In a forest of 8,000,000 bayonets, a little olive branch might feel lonesome, but it is safer there than it would be in China, where they have no Mussolini and no national defense.

A MILLION YEARS ago when our ancestors went out seeking something to eat, preferably some feeble human being easily killed, everybody walked. Now nearly everybody rides.

SILVER

The hills of western Montana contain a great reservoir of lead, silver and copper. Butte and Anaconda are the center of these mining operations. Just now silver is very valuable to the miners, and the great Anaconda Plants of Anaconda and Butte are very busy. Beside lead and copper, they are getting great quantities of silver. They are selling this silver to the Government of the United States at the unconscionable price of seventy-five cents per ounce, when the world price is thirty-five cents an ounce.

The citizens of western Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Washington and Arizona are crazy about silver. They circulate great quantities of silver currency and it is hard to find any paper currency in these districts. I gave a Twenty Dollar bill for a One Dollar purchase and received my change in nineteen silver dollars.

At the Hotel Davenport, in Spokane these dollars were so bright that they looked as though they had been just minted. Without looking at the date of one I asked the clerk, "What is the mint?"

He answered, "In the cellar." I asked him to explain, and he said:

"We clean all of our silver currency every night in the basement. That is why it looks as though it had just been minted. Our people like it; they want nothing but silver."

In Southern California, I offered one of these new-looking silver dollars to a young lady in payment of a small purchase. She threw it on the counter, rung it and looked at it and then went back to the proprietor of the store and asked if he thought it was a good dollar. Southern California is not such a great distance from Spokane, but the citizens of Southern California, particularly this young lady, know nothing about the Davenport Hotel "Mint."

SUGGESTION FOR QUIET

It may be a radical notion of mine. For my notions most frequently are.

But were I an inventor I'd try to design a new type of horn for the car. Did it happen to be my good fortune to own.

One trace of electrical skill I'd get up a siren which couldn't be blown whenever the car's standing still.

There are many occasions when horn should be used. As a warning I welcome their sound.

But the thing is so often by drivers abused That a sane method ought to be found.

I'd get up a horn for those fellows I know Whose honking the neighbors disturb.

A horn which they couldn't incessantly blow When the car is drawn up to the curb.

When traffic is jammed and we all wait in line Since the fellow ahead cannot go For drivers impatient the horn I'd design.

No sign of impatience would know. The horn I'd invent and make all men adopt.

Is a want we've long waited to fill. It would silence itself when the motor was stopped.

And couldn't be blown standing still.

HARRISON WINS

The Republicans nominated Gen. Benjamin Harrison, a shrewd Indiana lawyer, grandson of the late President William Henry Harrison. Cleveland's popular vote exceeded that of Harrison's by 110,000, but the vote in the electoral college was 233 to 168 in favor of Harrison. The Republican candidate had won the large northern states. In fact, no northern state was carried by Cleveland except New Jersey and Connecticut. The Republicans won even the house of representatives.

A MANDATE?

The Republicans accepted the vote as a verdict in favor of a higher tariff. Under the leadership of William McKinley, of Ohio, in the house the Republicans jacked the tariff considerably above the duties which Cleveland had believed abhorrent. And as a result, they lost the congressional campaign of 1890. Furthermore, a party demanding radical experiments in money was spreading through the west from Kansas—the Populists. And Socialists, too, were making headway. Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, a highly respected by business, as a concession fathered a measure to give silver an artificial value. (Silver, as related to gold, has been a constant issue in the United States for 75 years, at least. Many persons have been of the belief that economic and social betterments can be obtained through credit and monetary manipulation rather than through the hard road of fundamental social and economic readjustments.)

HARRISON ALOOF

Harrison proved to be no party leader. He was a man of cultivation and reserve, and gained no political hold. The Republicans, however, felt honor bound to renominate him in 1892. And the Democrats unhesitatingly chose Grover Cleveland again. Cleveland won over Harrison in 1892 by fewer than 300,000 votes out of a total of 12 million. But every state which the Republicans had claimed as doubtful cast their vote for Cleveland—and he had a majority in the electoral college of 110. Not only were the Republicans swept clear out of power, but they were disarmed of power, for the Populists—or People's party—had garnered more than 1,000,000 votes, and had carried Kansas, North Dakota, Idaho, Oregon and Nevada. The Populists, using radical doctrine, had enticed those voters chiefly from the Republicans.

Cleveland Out And In. Is Defeated By Harrison. Labor Organizations Arise

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Staff Writer

GROVER CLEVELAND went down in 1898 for a principle, on which he was afterwards vindicated by popular vote. The principle was a lower tariff. Republicans, of course, always were jacking up the tariff, "to protect infant industries." Northern Democrats had feared to touch it since the Civil war.

Cleveland, a resolute man, one who was a compelling leader, pushed aside party councils and made the tariff an issue. Here was the most commanding figure in the presidency since Lincoln—and commanding figures antagonize not only large interests but minor political figures. Cleveland had walked out from his own party.

The house was Democratic, but the senate was Republican, thus Cleveland set for himself an impossible task when he began his battle for a lower tariff. It did not matter that Cleveland was an executive who gave a clean-cut job, routed out graft, and had a strong sense of justice. (A strong social view had not yet been developed in politics.) When Cleveland recovered more than 80 million acres of public lands illegally obtained, backed a bill establishing the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate railroads, and then, as a free demonstration of new beverages at McGillicuddy's drugstore, the monthly meeting of the Philomathean Society and Bagster Brothers combined tent shows and carnival on the schoolhouse grounds.

And when Cleveland set out to check governmental and congressional extravagances and pension grants, he alienated a large part of the masses who would have been beneficiaries.

ECONOMIC DISORDERS

The rise of labor organizations—and intimidation of them on a large scale, too—began during Cleveland's first term. And he was greatly worried. Instead of entering a general tirade, he placed the blame upon economic maladjustments, which turned a large part of the trade upon himself.

In President Cleveland's annual message in 1887, he called for a lower tariff, declaring that the protective tariff was vicious and inequitable and taxed every consumer for the benefit of a few large manufacturers.

A bill moderately reducing duties was put through the house by the Democratic majority. The Republican senate not only rejected it, but proposed higher duties. Cleveland went to the country on the issue.

And the Republicans had an easy time raising a large campaign fund to defeat him.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Papal Secretary Is Good Diplomat

Is Silent On Pressing Questions Which Many Would Like Answered

LOOKED UPON AS NEXT POPE

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, pronounced as if it were spelled Pachelli, papal secretary of state, not only is the highest Vatican official who ever has visited America; it is more than a possibility that he will be the next pope.

The National Press club consequently made the most of him when he accepted its invitation to luncheon during his recent short stay in Washington.

A potential pope is worth seeing and hearing, so I attended this function. His eminence did not agree to make a speech, but he did consent to say a few words, and that was all he did say. Those few, however, were very felicitously delivered. As for appearance, if he becomes pope he will look the part of one.

A DISTINGUISHED FIGURE

He is very tall, slender and erect. They say he is 60, but he would pass for a decade younger than that. The clerical attire of his rank, with its crimson and black contrasts, in itself would make him conspicuous, but he would be a distinguished figure anyway. His smile is extremely amiable and he wears it frequently.

He is described as among the foremost diplomats of the world, and he needs to be, in his post as foreign minister for a government with no temporal power outside Vatican City, dealing with governments which rely on temporal power—and plenty of it—exclusively. Advance accounts of him said that the cardinal speaks half a dozen or more languages almost perfectly.

This is an exaggeration if his English is a sample of his other linguistic accomplishments. He was equal, indeed, to doing his talking at the Press club without the help of an interpreter, but it required pretty close listening and some imagination to understand him.

COUGHLIN "WARNED"?

Maybe Cardinal Pacelli is an astute enough diplomat to have preferred not to have the newspaper men understand him over-thoroughly.

Of course they were bursting to have him tell whether or not he came to the United States to warn Father Charles E. Coughlin to be more discreet in the future and to urge Monsignor John A. Ryan not to answer the Michigan priest again, even if the latter refuses to discontinue his radio broadcasting. Also there were rumors that his eminence was here, at least in part, in an effort to pave the way for formal diplomatic relations between the Vatican and Washington. The press folk were vastly desirous to hear this subject discussed, too.

Obviously neither topic was one which his eminence could have touched upon without creating a tremendous uproar of a highly undiplomatic character.

The cardinal may have whispered into Monsignor Ryan's ear and may have consulted with trusted advisers concerning the possibility of closer Washington-Vatican relations, but he was far too wily to mention anything of the sort at a Press club luncheon. He simply expressed the utmost good will and invited his hearers to join him in prayers for world peace—from which no civilized human being can dissent.

Beyond that, if interrogated, his English was insufficient to enable him to enlighten his questioners.

MERELY A "LOOK-SEE"?

Briefly, there evidently was not much that his eminence cared to divulge at present.

That much he divulged; nothing further.

My own impression is that he came here for what the Chinese call a "look-see."

He knows, of course, that the present pope is old and is rapidly failing, and that he is the holy father's likeliest successor. Isn't it reasonable for him, as a far-seeing statesman, as well as an ecclesiastic, to seize the opportunity to give a country of the proportions of the United States the "once over"—regardless of Father Coughlin and Monsignor Ryan.

The Vatican has been hard hit in recent years and months—in Mexico, in Germany, in Spain.

Why wouldn't it deem it desirable to devote some extra study to its fences in this republic? To me it seems that Cardinal Pacelli just shows his good judgment. I think it proves that he is precisely what he is called—a first-rate diplomat.

If he were an American, doubtless he would be a more popular papal candidate here. I think he might have an American boom, in fact.

EMPLOY TRAPPERS TO BATTLE PESTS

(International News Service) SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—The G-men of the wilds—more than 1,000 trappers employed on a WPA project to rid the wilds of predatory animals—will soon set out for remote woods and mountains to fight with poison, guns and traps against the animal forces of lawlessness.

In Utah alone 120 trappers have been hired by the WPA to work under field supervisors, who met here recently with R. Scott Zimmerman, game management agent for the United States biological survey.

In addition to their WPA wages, the trappers will receive pay from the sale of pelts.

Coyotes, mountain lions and bobcats, notorious killers of game animals, will be the chief enemies of the trappers.

over the Hudson River, opened five years ago, about one hundred million human beings have crossed in 31,000,000 automobiles, while fewer than 1,000,000 have crossed on foot. Buses alone carried 1,638,000 over the bridge.

HOW RAPIDLY progress moves once it starts. Seventy-five years ago, both sides of our country were connected by telegraph for the first time. Now men talk around the world by radio. Seventy-five years ago they only talked across the continent, now they fly the continent, and on beyond, across the Pacific Ocean.

Those hostile to new ideas might remember that a little more than seventy-five years ago, men were beaten for re-election to Congress because, as the voters put it, "they were foolish enough to vote money to experiment talking over wires."

They were defeated for willingness to have the government try out Morse's electric telegraph idea.

BUY A GOOD thing, keep it, take care of it; it will ultimately help to take care of you, whether it be real estate or work of art, well selected. Those wise enough to buy good antique works of art are discovering that what cannot be duplicated always has its value.

Today Europe is buying from America at higher prices treasures brought across the ocean by Americans. The Royal Museum of Art and History in Brussels, recently bought here from Mitchell Samuels a tapestry made in Flanders in 1664, to commemorate the opening of a canal built in that year.

In the same month Mr. Samuels sold to a wealthy German collector in Switzerland an Egyptian carpet, one of two belonging to the Braganza family of Portugal.

EVERYBODY KNOWS of extraordinary prices obtained by Mr. Morgan during the depression for miniatures and other works of art that he sold.

Fortunately for America, many of the greatest art treasures are here. Several Americans—Mr. Morgan, Mr. Walters, Mr. George Blumenthal, Mr. Widener, Mr. Frick, Mr. Huntington, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., excel any European collector, except the Rothschild family as a whole.

Major Hiram H. Parke, who has sold more works of art than anybody in America, says the number of buyers has increased within a year, by five to one; a good sign. The new buyers will not regret it, if they buy wisely.

HERE IS an interesting lady politician named Miss Melinda Alexander—running for Congress. She spends two hours every day in earnest prayer, not for herself. She does not need the job; she prays that Americans may be well represented in Congress.

It is true that no good salesman ever talks for two hours, but that does not apply to prayers; addressed to omniscience and omnipotence, capable undoubtedly of hearing a thousand million prayers at once, or one thousand trillion times as many, if prayers rise from all the planets around all the billions of suns in the millions of universes.

GOOD NEWS for farmers, interesting to this agricultural department, and airplane builders. In Nicaragua swarms of locusts, destroying crops, were attacked with bombs. More than seventy millions of them killed with six thousand bombs.

Concussion in the air will kill locusts and grasshoppers, as exploding bombs in water will bring fish to the surface dead. Government might try using airplanes against the farmer's insect enemies, also against forest fires, spreading chemical blankets to shut out the oxygen.

There was one sad feature in the Nicaragua locust killing. The birds ate so many of the dead and dying locusts they could not fly, and were devoured by snakes and wildcats.

A BRAVE truck driver, name unknown, saw a lady with a difficult name, Mrs. Anastasia Aduszkiewics, hanging from the ledge of a second-story in Jersey City. Rushing to help he caught her in his arms as she fell, then left, wanting no praise.

He makes up for many that do not give their seats to ladies in street cars.

first shot was fired at the enemy by the A. E. F. in France.

It's True—Procla, the wife of Pontius Pilate, was a saint! This is her feast day in the Greek Catholic calendar.

You're wrong if you believe the size of a brain denotes the degree of intelligence. Eskimos have above the average of our own in size. William Makepeace Thackeray's brain weighed only 58.6 ounces compared to Ivan Turgenev's 74 ounces.

One of my favorite correspondents, George H. Barnes, Philadelphia, reproves me: "You stated that the Emancipation Proclamation of President Lincoln did not free a single slave. By whom, or what were the slaves freed? Had the proclamation been declared during a period of peace, the slave owners could have repudiated it because it transcended the Constitution, but the majority of the slave states were in rebellion and, therefore, did not have any rights under the Constitution. Had it felt disposed, the United States government could have seized all property in the rebellious states, under rules of war."

The proclamation specifically applied to territory then in rebellion and in possession of Confederates. And in this territory, obviously, Lincoln's edict had no force. He did not abolish slavery in Delaware, Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland, which did not secede, or in West Virginia, and other territories then held by federal troops; there were about 1,000,000 slaves in these. They were set free by the 13th amendment, in December, 1865. (Delaware rejected the amendment in 1865, did not ratify it until 1901!)

Not the proclamation, but practice of invading federal generals of seizing negroes as contraband of war and forcing them to work as servants and laborers, wrested them from southern owners. The word "wrested" is used deliberately; for the loyalty of the negroes to their southern masters and mistresses is fact as well as tradition.

Badminton Grows In College Town

(Special To The News)

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 27.—Up at Westminster college, students are busy "hanging the Indian sign" on one another, as badminton, a game introduced by British soldiers to the Indians, is fast becoming one of the most popular intramural sports.

The game, for a long time considered a "sissy game," completely out of the football-basketball class, is in to stay among the scheduled sports at the "Titan" institution. Played with rackets and consisting of volleying a feathered shuttlecock back and forth over a net, the game is equally popular with men and women. Teams are made up of singles or doubles; and the game is played on a small space, inside or outside, resembling a tennis court.

Badminton, like other intramural sports at Westminster, is put under the "play for play's sake" type of games, instead of the "win at any cost" variety.

'Never Too Young To Think,' Advice Of Scout Chieftain

"Never think that you are too young to form sound opinions," is advice for boys from Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, in his editorial, "Think," in a recent issue of "Boys' Life" monthly magazine of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Some of the greatest contributions to science, economics, literature and the world's progress have been made by young men scarcely older than many of the readers of 'Boys' Life,' the chief scout executive points out. 'Abraham Lincoln was only 24 when he first campaigned for public office. Newton was the same age when he formulated the law of gravitation. Stevenson wrote 'Treasure Island' at 23. Lindbergh flew the Atlantic at 25."

"But remember, not one of these young men achieved fame because he followed someone else, or copied some one else's work. They intelligently informed themselves of the facts by a study of all the data available. Then—they were able to think for themselves.

"Education does not mean just knowing things," the author said. "It means being able to think for yourself. Be curious. Don't hesitate to ask questions. Keep on digging in and finding out the reasons why things happen. That develops intellect."

CLASS AT LINCOLN

Starting today at 4:30 o'clock, Miss Lillie Braham will conduct a girls' gym class every Tuesday in the Lincoln-Garfield gymnasium. On every Thursday night, from 6:30 to 9:30 o'clock, Miss Braham will conduct a class at the Mahoningtown school gym.

But how people would roar if the government deliberately wasted the country's resources as the people themselves do.

To Get the Best Cough Remedy, Mix It at Home

Quicker Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because there is no other way to obtain such a dependable, effective remedy for coughs that start from colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes. Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough remedy, far superior to anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving you double quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR STAGES ANNUAL PARTY

Monday evening members of the Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor, of the First Christian church, gathered in the church basement amidst decorations of goblins, witches, ghosts, pumpkins and corn-stalks, and staged one of the most successful annual Halloween parties that the Endeavor has ever planned.

Thirty persons joined in numerous games during the evening, including the usual Halloween contests along with an entertaining balloon game and a spelling game which tried the ingenuity of those present.

Popular songs were sung by the group and were accompanied on the piano by Miss Nellie Brown and Miss Katherine Lewis. The main feature was a tour of the church in the dark. Spooky objects were placed all along the route and a great deal of entertainment was derived by the line, which was led on the tour by Rev. Merrill Cadwell, assistant pastor of the church. Rev. Cadwell also wore a very unique outfit which received much comment. This was the dress of a Chinese peasant, complete in every detail.

Later, a typical Halloween menu was served by the committee members including Lydia Farmer, general chairman; Ralph Montgomery, Harold Workman and Emma Patton. Debert Jackson had charge of decorating the church and this was done in a most novel manner and aroused much comment.

To climax the evening the group formed a line and held a mummies parade in an attempt to select the best costumes.

NOVEL CENTER PIECE REVEALS WEDDING DATE

Miss Edna Space was a charming hostess to friends at her home on Huron avenue, Monday evening, in honor of her sister, Miss Ruth Space, who will become the bride of Henry Klein, of Holton street, on November 4.

To reveal the date of the wedding the hostess used a clever means, having a "good luck" ship pictured on a "sea of matrimony" (represented by blue cellophane) as an unusual center piece for the luncheon table. Unfolded from the top of the ship was the ship's flag carrying the wedding date.

Orange and black tones were used in combination with the other colors to make the table otherwise attractive, with appointments in like tones carried through the menu.

During the informal evening, the bride-to-be was showered with lovely gifts from the group which included one out of town guest, Mrs. R. S. Henry, of Beaver, Pa.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Metropolitan barbers are a colorful and lively breed apart and your correspondent has been able to examine several specimens because of shifting tonorial allegiances in the last year.

The first one I had was a Turk. His English was constant but for the most part unintelligible. I had to give him up because of his taste for raw garlic and his tendency to leave me under red-hot towels while he went out to telephone.

The second was an Italian and in the beginning I was sure that he was going to be the best practitioner I had ever encountered. His fingers were strong and he didn't mind putting out elbow-grease. After a session in his chair my scalp glowed like a twenty-four-tube receiving set and I was confident I was going to be able to hold that hairline for another couple of years.

But after the Ethiopian war became acute he went to pieces. Formerly one of the most taciturn of men, he began to talk. He regaled me with atrocious stories, carving the air with his open razor by way of emphasis. One day the negro bootblack became involved with him in a controversy so heated that I felt abandoned in an extremely hazardous no-man's-land between them. So I went in search of another barber.

My newest is a Spaniard. He stands six feet and boasts enormous biceps. He reveals that his wrist muscles became so overdeveloped that he had to begin work evenings on the horizontal bars in order to keep his physique balanced. Also he is a writer.

He told me he had been at work on a tract that would pop the eyes of the town when published. He confessed, at my first sitting, that as a Spaniard he felt that he ought to let the world know the truth about Spaniards.

This was ominous. It occurred to me that a war was going on in Spain and this might portend a break-down similar to the one that had overtaken my Italian barber.

"What's the subject you're writing about?" I asked feebly.

"Didn't you see that article in Esquire? That scurrilous attack on my race? The one called 'Latins Are Lousy Lovers'?"

I admitted that I had.

"Well," he beamed, "I'm writing an answer to it. Boy, am I going to make the liar that wrote that article look silly."

There seemed no appropriate reply for that, so I held my tongue.

He turned on the electric clipper, adding with a sigh: "I can use the money I'll get for my article, too."

"Sure, a little extra always comes in handy," I burbled.

"Especially with me," he paused and grinned blandly. "I got such heavy alimony to pay."

Mention of Charles Darrow, the man who made a fortune at the deepest dip of the depression out of a parlor game enabling players to toss around thousands of stage dollars, brings addenda from Phillips Lord.

"George Daynor, of Vineland, N. J., is another depression success. Thought you'd want to know. He recouped his fortune collecting tin cans."

"He collected thousands and thousands of tin cans. Then he built a Tin Can Palace and collects a fee from 100 visitors a day. He's getting rich, because tin-can tourists naturally want to see the tin-can palace."

"He borrowed four dollars and bought a piece of swamp land. On this he built his palace of gleaming spires, authentic ramparts, redoubts, Sally ports and battlements. The thing is constructed entirely out of tin cans."

It is silly to judge America by Europe's standards. The dancing of the young always seems naughty to the old who have rheumatism.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUNG MOTHER WORRIES

As you read the following letter you will probably experience regret and admiration—regret that this young mother should have to bear children so rapidly, and admiration at her gracious sweetness in the face of all her hardships.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am a young woman of 26, the mother of six children. I am just recuperating from a severe illness in which I lost the seventh child. There are five boys and one girl. The eldest is just eight years old, the second, 10 months. The three boys, being the oldest, are all at school, and the little girl, just four, a boy two and one-half and the baby at home. We live in five rooms, all quite small. You may tire of this description, but I have wanted to write for a long time. I am very nervous, although not at all crank, as I am full of life and have not aged any all through this great ordeal."

"While I was confined I was here at home, and my sister, who is a young high school graduate, just 17, took care of the children. She did very well with them, but I am worried about my little boy of two and one-half. He has become so spoiled and bold I can hardly handle him. He wants to eat constantly, all day long. Immediately after breakfast he wants a banana; then he sees cookies and wants them; if he doesn't get them he cries and screams until I too, could scream. When I whip him and set him on a chair he tells me he will die and go in a big hole as the baby did, and sticks out his tongue at everyone.

Boys Helpful
"The boys who go to school are quite helpful, but are so careless about their clothes; the minute they come in from school off come gloves, hats, jackets—and everything lands on the chairs or floor. I preach about this all the time, but with no result. Please tell me some suggestions for these problems and I will be most grateful."

Feeling I replied to her about as follows:
With all your poise after what you have endured, the problems you describe are small, and I am sure you will easily solve them. If, despite the nervous strain on you, you can steel yourself to let that little boy cry when you refuse to grant his wishes, he will learn to give up gracefully. But if for your own protection you feel that you must punish, assign him to sit on a chair, say 20 minutes, doing without the spanking unless he should not stay in the chair till his allotted time expires. Then no matter what he says, act as if you are deaf. Show him a little more attention when he is good.

Make clear to each of the older children that for each time they leave a hat or coat on a chair, he will have to sit in that chair doing nothing for thirty minutes, and then make sure no offense escapes this penalty. Otherwise let the matter go and keep quiet about it.

On Court House Hill

Kenneth A. Taylor has resigned as majority inspector in the fifth precinct of the fourth ward, Judge W. Walter Abraham appointed Margaret R. Sankey to fill the vacancy.

Under the will of the late Elizabeth N. Coulter of Wayne township, which has been probated at the register and recorder's office, decedent left all her property to her husband, Charles K. Coulter, a son, Paul Earl Coulter, is appointed executor.

Constable Joseph H. Wilson, of Big Beaver township has appointed C. H. McCleskey, deputy for the first district voting place on election day and W. J. Stafford for the third district.

Sixty-six instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number forty-five were deeds and twelve were mortgages. Eight of the mortgages were given to individual three to building and loans and one to a bank.

County Commissioners Clerk, William A. Eakin is preparing the supplies for election boards on next Tuesday. The supplies include the registry lists, tally sheets and other papers. The boxes will all be made ready, except for the ballots, which will be placed in them as soon as they come from the hands of the printer. The supplies will be ready for delivery by the latter part of the week. City supplies will likely be distributed on next Monday.

The licensing of motor vehicles grows apace with the high cost of living. Those whose fees swell the millions now raised from this source of revenue may be interested in knowing that New York state was the first to license motor vehicles thirty-five years ago. In the first year the modest sum of $954 was collected.

Mabel I. Davis of 211 Pearson St., has filed an application at the probatory office for a divorce from her husband, William B. Davis, on the ground of desertion. The couple was married in May, 1925. The present whereabouts of Davis is unknown to libellant, his last address being at Anderson, Indiana.

Sheriff and Mrs. Edward Pritchard had another interesting ride over the mountains Sunday when they took Bertha Blunt to the State Industrial Woman's home at Muncie, Pa., where she is serving a life sentence for a murder committed in this city. Bertha, who is colored, was brought here about a week ago to attend the funeral of her mother. Sheriff Pritchard reports that the scenery in the mountains is now at its best.

Constables throughout the county will appoint deputies this week to look after election precincts on next Tuesday. The law requires that there be a constable or deputy at each precinct. The constable usually looks after the election board in his own district and appoints deputies for the other precincts.

According to a ruling of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti aldermen and justices of the peace may not legally call witnesses in cases arising from arrests of persons in their county for crimes committed in other counties. The ruling, requested by Mayor Lynn Adams, superintendent of state police, held minor judiciary may merely accept bail in such cases for appearances of prisoners in the court of the county from which the warrant was issued. "If the defendant does not wish to give bail," Margiotti said, "he may be taken directly before the alderman or justice in the county in which the offense was committed."

AROUND CITY HALL

Some people, intent on business, sometimes fail to hear warning signals. At least such was true Monday when a local bank tested out their burglar alarm. The bell sounded sharp and long. However, persons paid scant attention to the warning. Two persons who were conversing in one of the bank moved away but three persons entered the bank while the signal was sounding. Having been notified of the test, the police did not dash in cruiser cars to the institution.

Only 240 cases of communicable illness have been reported this year to the city health department, according to a perusal of that department's records. The serious contagions, such as smallpox, have been missing for years. Few cases of typhoid and diphtheria were reported this year. There is no question but that Pa. New has enjoyed good health.

City Solicitor William Coban reported to members of the city council Monday that Paul Marakas, collector of delinquent taxes, was entitled to five per cent, or $144.30, for having collected $2,886.12. Council ordered the five per cent paid to the collector. Council believes he has been doing good work.

Mencken says the word "lousy" was first used in 1690. Probably a contemporary effort to describe the ancestors we brag about.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

TRUE BLUE CIRCLE
The True Blue Circle will meet tonight at 7:30 and continue with the woodcraft that was started in the class last week.

SQUARE CIRCLE MEETING
Masqueraders were abundant on Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium when the members of the Square Circle staged their annual Hallowe'en party.

Meeting in the gym at 7:30 the members proceeded to play a varied assortment of games and prizes for high honors were awarded to Miss Ellen Dumatteo and Miss Alma Rainey. The gym of the "Y" was most attractively decorated in a color scheme of orange and black and presented a most pleasing appearance.

At a late hour delicious refreshments, typical of a Hallowe'en party were served by a most efficient committee composed of various members of the group. It was decided to hold a special business meeting on Thursday evening of this week in the "Y" at 7:30.

SENIOR HIGH RESERVES

tions by Gerry Flick, Marjorie Blum read the minutes of the last meeting. Dorothy Fry lead the group singing accompanied by Mary Louise Kirkpatrick. June Travers, chairman of the program committee had charge of the evening's entertainment. In the play and on other features on the program were Fanny Barron,

TO OWNERS OF
REAL ESTATE

For the year ending June 30, 1936, the Government paid approximately $3,000,000.00 to the needy of Lawrence County.

Governor Landon would transfer this burden to the County. The great bulk of this necessary expense would then be raised by a Tax on Real Estate.

Your present poor tax millage is 4 mills. To raise the above amount would add 47 mills to the present Poor Tax.

FOR EXAMPLE

A taxpayer owning a property assessed at $2,000.00 now pays a poor tax in the amount of $8.00. Under Mr. Landon's proposal the same taxpayer would pay a total Poor tax in the amount of $102.00. Can you afford this increased tax? Protect your home and farm. Vote against this increased real estate tax.

Gives Description Of New Castle Plant

Every guest that enters the gates of the New Castle works, Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, on Wednesday, October 28, which is Community Day, will receive a pamphlet setting forth some of the statistical facts concerning the mill. For the benefit of those who may not be enabled to get to the plant the contents of the pamphlet are set forth below.

A Word of Greeting.
Due to innumerable requests throughout the year from families of our employees and citizens of our community to inspect our plant and become better acquainted with their valley industries, it has been decided to hold "open house" at New Castle works for an entire day.

We extend you a warm welcome. Our plant, which began operation October 14, 1893, is now a black plate specialty mill making an uncoated sheet steel product which is shipped to our customers and converted by them into thousands of uses, some of them which you will see in the displays as you pass through the various departments.

Along the route which we have marked out, you will meet guides all wearing badges, many of whom are our foremen, the employee representatives and various members of our organization, who will be pleased to answer any question you may desire.

First Consistory Class Here; To Have Reunion

Like the graduates of a college or university, there is a kindred feeling between members of the various classes of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite. As each of the semi-annual reunions occur, members of years standing return and revivify the old associations.

It has remained for the class of February 1918, the first class of the Valley of New Castle, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, to hold a formal class reunion and this reunion will take place Wednesday, October 28 when the full reunion of the A. S. R. opens in the Cathedral on Lincoln avenue.

High School Used

There was no Cathedral in those days. The senior high school auditorium was used for the reunions and here on February 1, 1918 the first class was inducted into the secrets of the fraternity. The Consistory had been organized through the efforts of members of other bodies and locally John S. Wallace was commander-in-chief, Dr. Alan W. Urmon was first lieutenant-commander and William H. Dunlap second lieutenant-commander.

Recently a temporary organization of the pioneer class was formed with Albert B. Street acting as president and Edward A. Henson as secretary. On Wednesday there will be a special reunion dinner for the class and permanent officers will be selected.

A special table is being reserved for the class and each member who attends the reunion is asked to make his identity known and receive a special badge for the occasion.

ANOTHER GIFT TO GROVE CITY

J. Howard Pew Donates $40,000 To College For Building Work

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Oct. 27.—A gift of $40,000 from J. Howard Pew, of Philadelphia, president of the board of trustees of Grove City College, is announced by President Weir C. Keller today. The fund will enable the college to complete an extensive improvement project now in progress entirely free of debt.

Several months ago heirs to the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Anderson Pew, joined in a donation enabling the college to erect a new woman's dormitory, now nearing completion. At the same time, trustees authorized contracts for an addition to Keller Hall, men's dormitory, and construction of Overlook Terrace on the upper campus. The latest gift from Mr. Pew supplies funds for the additional work.

Since the early days of Grove City College, the Pew family has been generous contributors to Grove City College. The late J. N. Pew was associated with Dr. Isaac C. Keller, founder of the college and served as president of the board, a position his son now holds, for many years.

END THE FEEL-PUNK, DRAG-FOOT DAYS

Dull headaches, poor appetite, sleeplessness are warning signs. You feel low—hate to work. These symptoms may point to constipation due to "low-bulk" meals.

Why throw these days out of your life—particularly when regular habits make you feel so good. Get "bulk" by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

There's nothing experimental about ALL-BRAN. Millions of people have used it successfully. Scientific tests prove it is safe and effective. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Stubbard cases may require ALL-BRAN often. Serve as a cereal, or cook into delicious recipes.

What an improvement over pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is a food—you buy it at the grocery store. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Seventeen Auto Drivers Arrested By State Officers

MERCER, Oct. 27.—The state motor police propose carrying out the terms of their edict of recent date that speeding and other motor violations would meet with fines imposed by the motor code.

Seventeen were arrested here Sunday. The number, the largest total since the traffic jams of July 4th are hard to account for so late in the season. Fast and reckless driving, failing to stop at the stop signs and improper passing summarize the list of offenses.

The cases were heard by Justice Thomas McClain, Jr.

The local police assisted state motor cops in bringing in the defendants of which there were five Ohio motorists and one from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCallister, Mrs. Earl Jay Jennings and Mrs. James Black were at the Highland U. P. church, New Castle, on Thursday evening when Mrs. John M. Phillips, state president of the Federation of Women, gave an address.

Mrs. C. D. Gilliland entertained a number of little folks in honor of her daughter Mary Louise celebrating her eighth birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent in a general good time by the children.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Gilliland, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Albert Rayner and Miss Marguerite Gilliland. The honor guest received many lovely gifts from her little friends.

Gaston Post To Start Campaign

Drive For New Members
Will Start With Meeting
In Legion Home
Tonight

COMMITTEES TO BE APPOINTED

Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, will fire the opening gun in its 1937 membership drive this evening, in connection with the meeting of the post in the Legion Home at 8:15.

Gaston post has led the district for the past few years in point of membership gain, and expects to continue this record this year.

GOVERNOR LANDON SEES VICTORY IN KEYSTONE STATE

down home rule, to short circuit state governments and to coerce voters.

Know Brazen Methods

"No one knows better than the people of Pennsylvania the brazen manner in which this policy has been applied in the name of relief," said Landon. "The unemployed have been told that if they do not support the president they will be thrown off the relief rolls. Scores of millions of public money have been poured into Pennsylvania in a desperate effort to carry the state in the coming election.

"No one knows better than the people of Pennsylvania the growing resentment of the public against an administration so callous to public decency that it tries to force people to sell their votes for bread.

"When I take office as chief executive, I shall put an end to the use of relief funds for political purposes."

Plays Squandering Of Funds

Landon played the administration's squandering of public money. He repeated the major issue in this campaign is the choice between "preservation of the American constitution" and a "government which concentrates increasing power in the chief executive."

At Baltimore, earlier yesterday, he openly charged the "little circle of intimate advisers" of the president with seeking to overthrow the American system and establish a sheer dictatorship in America.

"The president says this issue is a fairy tale," said Landon. "He underestimates the American people. They cannot be thrown off the track so easily. The record since March 3, 1933, is no fairy tale."

After denouncing the administration's "open and impudent use of public money for political purposes," Landon urged the American people to remember on election day that it is their money which is being "wasted."

"The People's Money."

"And it is the people's money—our money—that has been used to create the most sinister political machine of our history," Landon continued. "No words of idealism, no claims of good intention, can shift the responsibility for this machine. The responsibility rests upon one man and one man alone. It rests upon the president of the United States."

Landon warned that the administration's spending, its new taxes and its borrowed money all fall upon the "little fellow."

"It is the little fellow who pays," he said. "It is the little fellow who suffers from government extravagance. It is the little fellow who needs the safeguards of the constitution—and particularly the safeguards against waste of public funds."

Landon charged Roosevelt had gone "year after year to congress and demanded vast sums to be spent at his discretion." He said even congress itself "felt the political power of these billions" and quietly surrendered "its responsibility over the public purse."

Enormous Power Given.
"There is even a more serious side to this violation of the constitutional rights of congress," Landon added. "This is the enormous power which gives the president the right to appoint and remove state governments and thereby to exercise powers not granted to him by the constitution."

"But even this is not all. 'This administration has used the power of the purse to do more than break down home rule. This administration has used it to coerce voters. Finally, said Landon, 'is it time that we restored the bureau of the budget to its proper place in our government?'

"I intend to restore this bureau," he pledged, "to a position of independence with a competent director at its head. And unless the present chief executive acts in the meantime, I shall fill another office which is vacant—the office of comptroller general."

The life of a spendthrift "may be pleasant for a while," said Landon, but "some time even the spendthrift must pay the bill."

"We need an administration," he declared, "that realizes even Uncle Sam can go broke."

Then in conclusion, amid interruptions of cheering, he said: "Human liberty, like a tree, grows slowly. For more than 700 years the race has struggled for the liberties embodied in our constitution. But an axe can fell the sturdiest tree in a few short hours. Our liberties can be lost almost as quickly."

"This administration wields the same axe which has destroyed the liberties of much of the old world; an unbalanced budget, inflation of the currency, delegation of power to the chief executive, destruction of local self-government."

"Let us then, here in Philadelphia where the charter of our liberty was born, make this high resolve. Let us take an oath that the bell which rang here 160 years ago, shall not have rung in vain."

PLAY "NEW DEAL" AT MASS MEETING HERE ON MONDAY

"It is not the Democratic party we are fighting," said Senator Hanley, "it is the New Deal party. The Democratic New Deal has been crossed with the Socialistic nightmare and today we have the New Deal mule, without pride of ancestry nor hope of posterity."

Said Senator Hanley: "I am a lifelong Republican, but above that I am an American. No matter how seaworthy the ship or how splendid its equipment, the pilot will save or wreck it in time of storm. We are now having a great discussion as to its methods and purposes. Our party is in the position of the minority and we must be ready and willing to deal with things as they are. Two facts are apparent and cannot be denied. Millions are out of work. The farmer is still receiving too low prices for his products. Both are tied together, there are efforts being made to solve these, we admit. But they are unsound and contrary to all real principles of recovery. Our party believes in our money being sound, honest and not inflated. We must keep our dollar good. We believe in honest and abundant production, with a free market for our products. Any other course is suicidal. Thousands of acres lying idle do not spell prosperity to us. Thousands of acres unplanted by government fiat and thousands upon thousands of arid lands made productive by great government irrigation projects. It just will not make sense. We are facing this fact. These theories have not worked."

Candidates Speak

Between the address of Senator Hanley and Mr. Isherwood the candidates for office spoke. T. W. McCullough, candidate for General Assembly in the first district of Lawrence county, was the first of the candidates. "All I can promise if elected is the application of ordinary business judgment and horse sense to the office," Mr. McCullough said. "For the past two years we have had a playboy for governor, who has a House of Representatives assembly in the will. Both Mr. Fullerton and I agreed that if you elect us we go to Harrisburg with the understanding that we are not to take the dictation of the Guffey-Earle-Lawrence machine."

W. Sharp Fullerton, candidate for the General Assembly from the second district, followed Mr. McCullough. He spoke briefly and reflected the sentiments of the previous speaker.

Orville Brown, candidate for Congress, was the next speaker. He scored the rubber stamp tactics of the men now in Congress and referred to some of the asinine legislation passed by the past Congress at the command of the President. Mr. Brown promised to do his own thinking if elected to Congress.

Batchelor Speaks

State Senator A. S. Batchelor followed Mr. Brown. "The crime I am charged with by Governor Earle is that I refused to wear his yoke," said Senator Batchelor. "Certainly I was against the $80,000,000 tax burden proposed by George the Third; certainly I was against loading an unjust burden upon the backs of the people. I was one of the senators that stood for the much reduced tax program which Governor Earle finally accepted and which is now shown to have been ample. I refuse to be a handmaiden of the Guffey, Lawrence, Earle machine, and if re-elected expect to continue my fight against their attempts to dominate the state."

State Candidates Heard

Frank L. Pinola, candidate for state treasurer, and E. Arthur Sweeney, candidate for auditor-general, were introduced and spoke along the same lines. Both are candidates for fiscal offices of the state. Both of them argued that the offices for which they were contending were too important to be permitted to go to the Democratic machine already controlling the executive branch of the government.

"There should be some check upon the extravagances of the administration," said Mr. Sweeney. "It is important that Republicans should fill both the treasurer and auditor-general's office."

"I believe the people of Pennsylvania have seen enough of the present national and state administration waste," said Mr. Pinola, "and that they will elect Republicans to these two offices."

Former State Commander James E. Isherwood was the last speaker and his address was a gem. Gifted with the magic of oratory, Mr. Isherwood swayed his audience with his words and time and again was hailed by applause.

Scores President's Policies

"As a former soldier of 28 months experience in the World War I look at this election as a soldier and a citizen," said Mr. Isherwood. "President Roosevelt made a lot of large promises, one of them being economy in government. The only economy he gave us was the drastic cut in the allowances of men who were crippled from their service to their country."

"To anyone who will impartially analyze the 'New Deal' to anyone whose thoughts rise higher than blind loyalty to a political party, it is readily seen that a Socialistic dictatorship rather than democracy is the objective of those who govern us. No administration has so utterly disregarded the rules of common sense lessons of experience, the basic laws of our land or in fact the very laws of nature."

These sentiments are not Republican propaganda but the sincere convictions of such men as Governor Byrd of Virginia, Ex-Senator Bruce of Maryland, Governor Ely of Massachusetts, Jim Reed, of Missouri, Bainbridge Colby, Colonel Brekenridge, Newton D. Baker, President Wilson's Secretary of War and many other genuine Democrats.

Former Candidates Repudiate

When Cox, Davis and Smith, all the living former candidates for president of the Democratic ticket repudiated Mr. Roosevelt and his "New Deal" termed by them a Raw or Damnable Deal, it is little wonder that this campaign becomes a vital burning issue between Americanism and the un-American "isms" of dictatorship.

On November 3rd, the American people will determine whether or not we desire a despotism headed and administered by Mr. Roosevelt, planned by the communistically minded Tugwells, Frankfurters, Cohens, Wallaces and Perkins, manipulated by the master spoolman, Mr. Farley, or a return to the government of Washington, Lincoln, Wilson, and Teddy Roosevelt.

Let us from a non-partisan angle examine the "New Deal" program of Mr. Roosevelt.

From the enthusiasm displayed by the audience it was apparent that the meeting was a rousing success. In spite of the fact that there were many counter attractions on the air Monday night a splendid crowd was present.

Swimming Class Of Y. W. Postponed

Announcement comes this morning from the Y. W. C. A. that the opening of the swimming class at the Ben Franklin pool has been postponed for one week because not a sufficient number have paid the minimum fee for which the board of education feels it can allow the pool to be used. In allowing it to be used one night a week a considerable amount of expense is involved such as extra janitor service, lighting and pool management.

If 30 women and girls pay their fees this week the course of 15 lessons will get under way next Tuesday night.

Pleads Guilty To Gambling Charge

Nick Adamo, arrested on a charge of operating a gambling game, pleaded guilty before Alderman James C. Brice today and was released under $500 bail for court action.

Fred Seh, arrested Saturday night on a charge of setting up and maintaining a gambling device, received a hearing before the same alderman this morning. Squire Brice reserved decision in Seh's case.

The informations were made by State Trooper Al Knudsen. The arrests were made Sunday morning. Adamo was arrested Monday following the Sunday visit.

Correct this sentence: "My soul yearns for beautiful art," said the rich guy, "so I am hiring an agent to pick good stuff for me."

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get your finger a little Ice-Mint and apply once or twice daily. This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching and soreness, stops pain and heals the effected parts. Try it. Ice-Mint is Washy rectal and is easy and pleasant to use. It seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy that is so easy to use may be had at such small cost.

Huge Amount Of Coal Used At New Castle Plant In Year's Period

Coal enough to heat 7750 homes for a year, electricity enough to illuminate 6100 homes for a year, enough finished sheets to reach one and a half times around the world, during a year's operation, these are some of the interesting facts concerning New Castle Works, Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

Visitors to the plant Wednesday, October 23, Community Day may not grasp the vastness of the thing they are seeing, what it means to the community, what it means in the way of raw materials used or the payroll entailed.

Some of the more interesting facts are set out in the following statement by H. C. Ford, general chairman of Community Day.

We have 1300 employees who work 8 hours per day, also 61 employees on our pension roll; many of them are with us today.

Our total gross pay roll is $175,900.00 per month or $2,110,800.00 per year.

We use 108,000 gross tons of steel each year and produce 90,000 gross tons of finished product.

We consume 62,000 net tons of coal per year sufficient to heat 7,750 homes. We also use 4,260,000 kilowatts of electricity per year which will illuminate 6100 homes.

Our finished product in one year, if laid in single sheets end to end would extend 37,500 miles, or one and one-half times around the world.

Our drinking water comes from the city lines and is refrigerated in our Plant to 55 degrees F.

Our mill restaurant serves well cooked meals and also light drinks to our employees twenty-four hours each day.

We have a Plant Emergency hospital with a doctor and three registered nurses with service twenty-four hours per day. We believe in Safety and insist upon our employees going there if they are injured, no matter how slight the injury may be.

A large wash and locker room contains 494 lockers for employees of the Hot Mill department. It also contains showers and rest rooms.

A Group Life Insurance Plan is available to all of our employees at 60 cents per thousand dollars policy.

A Relief Association is in force which employees can voluntarily join which pays sick, accident and death benefits.

Our employees also have their own representative plan with nine representatives representing the various departments.

Our Welfare Nurse, Miss Ferguson, made 4,762 calls in 1935 in the interest of our employees. These calls covered a variety of needs such as sickness, death baby clinic, hospital, friendship, etc.

Samuels Urges Sane Hallowe'en

Requests Parents To Restrain Children From Property Damage

A "harmless Hallowe'en" is urged today by Alec Samuels, president of the New Castle Motor club. The depredations of children on Hallowe'en night are both annoying and expensive to car owners of the nation, he said, in appealing to parents and teachers to warn their children that damage to automobile property should have no part in their celebration.

The morning after Hallowe'en usually finds many cars with broken windows, defaced paint and flat tires, Mr. Samuels declared. He continued: "To most car owners, Hallowe'en is exactly the opposite of being All Saints Day, and the financial loss to motorists due to the over-enthusiasm of celebrants runs into a huge sum. A greater part of this loss could be prevented if parents at the time of purchasing costumes and arranging parties, would tell their youngsters that it is bad sportsmanship to damage property and that tampering with an automobile is a serious offense with a stiff penalty attached."

"In many instances, the depredations are due to the fact that children do not fully realize the damage they are causing; what seems to them a mere prank is a matter of serious concern to some car owner."

"Teachers also should join in a movement to bring about a 'harmless' Hallowe'en as the classroom is an ideal place for children to be taught how to enjoy themselves without financial loss to others."

At the same time, Mr. Samuels advised motorists that the best thing to do on Hallowe'en is to lock the car up securely for the night or store it at the nearest garage.

"If this is not convenient, the car owner will be repaid if he will park his car within sight of his front window and keep a strict eye upon it until the danger period is over. There will always be a lawless group intent on defacement or destruction of property and only constant watchfulness can save the car owner from digging down in his pocket to restore damage."

Knox Attacks Federal Social Security Act

Emphasizes That Labor's Best Interests Lie With Republican Party

(International News Service)
DAYTON, O., Oct. 27.—As a parting shot in his last campaign tour of Ohio, Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, left here today an attack upon the workings of the federal social security act.

Emphasizing that labor's "best interests lie with the Republican party," Knox insisted that the social security act would put great sums of money, derived from premiums, into the hands of government officials without any safeguards against its waste.

Knox declared that prosperity was returning to the country, but that its progress was still retarded by uncertainty concerning debt and taxes.

"Give the country a decent government," he said, "and private enterprise will absorb the bulk of the unemployed. Get rid of the theorists and meddlers, the regimenters and wasters, and this country will have the greatest era of prosperity it has ever known."

"Real and final recovery will begin a week from tomorrow when the people throw off the weight of federal interference with freedom of enterprise, when they elect Alfred M. Landon."

SOUTH SIDERS ARE READY FOR MUMMERS' PARADE

East Long avenue to the corner of South Mill street. From this point the parade will continue up South Mill street to Home street and down to Moravia street. From Moravia, the mummies will continue down Moravia street to Long avenue, thence up Long avenue past the judges' stand located in the East Long avenue section of the Lincoln-Garfield school. Division aides will carry flares, brightening up the event considerably. Mr. Davis urges all South Side merchants whose stores are located along the line of march, not to turn off lights in their stores.

of Trade which has been sponsoring similar celebrations for the past seven or eight years. Harold Lebo and Oscar Levine, members of the prize committee, have assembled upwards of 250 prizes, they stated. Levine said today "we have prizes galore, more than we have ever had before." Following the parade the mummies who received cards from the judges are requested to go to 338 East Long avenue, near the corner of South Mill street and East Long avenue, to receive their awards. The prizes, on display in two large windows, have created considerable interest.

For the protection of the large crowd which is expected to be on hand for the event, the South Side organization has made arrangements to have a corps of police present to see that everything functions properly. All motorists are asked to park their vehicles away from the line of march. At the conclusion of the parade $100 in cash will be awarded to a lucky person. This prize is an added feature.

The only thing that may possibly mar the outcome of the celebration is the weatherman. A fair break in the weather may result in the largest crowd in the history of the South Side.

Europe Awaits Soviet Answer
Counter-Ultimatum On Non-Intervention In Spain Is Delivered

SHOWDOWN IS NOW NEARING

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Oct. 27.—Soviet Russia today delivered a counter-ultimatum to the London non-intervention commission's demand for a clearer statement of Russia's Spanish arms policy.

The Soviet, a government spokesman said, is renewing its demand that the non-intervention committee act to halt alleged Fascist aid for the Spanish Rebels.

The alternative, he said, is that Russia "will no longer tolerate continuing the munitions blockade against the legitimate Spanish government."

Await Reply
London, Oct. 27.—While the Rebel war machine rolled closer to Madrid today, nervous diplomats awaited Moscow's reply to a requested show-down on her intentions regarding aid to the Spanish Loyalists.

Failure of Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador, to comply with the non-intervention committee's demand for clarification of his recent statement on the subject of supplying arms to Spain forced cancellation of a scheduled sub-committee meeting. A session of the full committee of 27 nations is listed for tomorrow.

Britain, meanwhile, was pushed farther into the Fascist bloc opposing Russia's stand because of anger here over Madrid's flat rejection of Britain's request for an exchange of Spanish war hostages.

Main Session Tomorrow
In view of Moscow's action in virtually ignoring the sub-committee's demand for clarification, the whole idea of holding preliminary meetings before tomorrow's main session was abandoned.

A renewed effort to obtain clarification will be made tomorrow, but if Maisky continues to refuse the meeting may break up.

Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, already has declared he will not permit consideration of the Russian reply until it has been clarified and the League is expected to take a similar stand.

Paris, Oct. 27.—The cabinet council in a brief discussion of foreign affairs decided today to refrain from any action regarding intervention in Spain without first consulting England.

This course will be followed, it was decided, "no matter what action may be taken by Soviet Russia."

Mr. Richberg—Darling, do you realize that you have asked what the trumps were at least a dozen times tonight? Is that nice?

Mrs. Richberg—Well, dearest, I didn't really have to ask. I did it to show that I was taking an interest in the game.

Weird Suicide Is Discovered At Mineola, N. Y.

Man Found Dead In Cellar, Victim Of Hanging; Wife Tries To Keep Police Out

(International News Service)
MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Mrs. John White, an elderly little woman with thin waxlike features, today was under observation after police had invaded her home and uncovered a story as weird and macabre as any ever written by William Faulkner or Edgar Allan Poe.

Mrs. White's husband, a hearty 64 year old, humpy-dumpy little man who kept a small store and performed odd jobs around here for many years, disappeared about a month ago.

He had been arrested a short time before that for accepting $700 in relief funds when, it was learned later, his wife had $3,000 in a bank in a neighboring town. White vowed he didn't know his wife, who for years had handled the family's finances, had the bank account.

Became Worried
After White had been missing for several days his cronies at the old timers club, where he played checkers and seven-up, became worried. They received no response when they knocked on the door of his house. Yet, when they left food on his porch, it was mysteriously taken in.

Finally White's friends went to police and three detectives were dispatched to the silent house. After knocking for an hour, they brought little Mrs. White to the door. She was determined they would not enter. They said they had a job for her husband, money, but she wouldn't budge. At last a husky detective picked her up and lifted her aside.

Shocking Sight
When police started to enter the basement they found Mrs. White sitting in a rocking chair at the door, rocking grimly and barring the way. Again they lifted her aside and clumped down stairs.

A shocking sight confronted them. White's body lay in a grave he had dug five feet deep in the cellar floor. He had hanged himself from a beam so low he had had to dig the grave to allow his body to swing clear. The rope had severed. White had been dead three weeks.

Health Officer Guy F. Glegborn ordered Mrs. White placed under observation at King's Park state hospital.

Main Session Tomorrow
In view of Moscow's action in virtually ignoring the sub-committee's demand for clarification, the whole idea of holding preliminary meetings before tomorrow's main session was abandoned.

A renewed effort to obtain clarification will be made tomorrow, but if Maisky continues to refuse the meeting may break up.

Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, already has declared he will not permit consideration of the Russian reply until it has been clarified and the League is expected to take a similar stand.

Paris, Oct. 27.—The cabinet council in a brief discussion of foreign affairs decided today to refrain from any action regarding intervention in Spain without first consulting England.

This course will be followed, it was decided, "no matter what action may be taken by Soviet Russia."

Mr. Richberg—Darling, do you realize that you have asked what the trumps were at least a dozen times tonight? Is that nice?

Mrs. Richberg—Well, dearest, I didn't really have to ask. I did it to show that I was taking an interest in the game.

BOARD OF CHEST PLANS FOR DRIVE

Goal Of November Campaign Will Be Known Within Few Days

In a two-and-a-half hour session at The Castleton last night, the New Castle Community Chest board of directors decided the budget quotas of the eight charitable and welfare organizations that will participate in the city-wide Community Chest campaign in November, and acted on a group of incidental matters relating to the operation of the drive.

Within the next few days the budget committee will review the figures and then public announcement of the participating agencies and their quotas will be made.

The chairman of the coming drive will be chosen soon by the campaign's executive committee.

Many of the city's civic organizations were represented during the discussions last night and most of the agencies had spokesmen present.

President W. Keith McAfee, who heads up the campaign committee, presided while the budget considerations were in progress and at the close of the meeting announced that "everything points to a Chest campaign that will have the citizenry united behind it."

McAfee called attention to the new representation plan inaugurated by the Community Chest directors this year and declared that the civic interest in a Chest drive was never so high.

The budget committee shortly will be ready to reveal the 1936 goal. The campaign is to open November 16.

Question Peculiar Play In Grid Game At Ann Arbor, Mich.

New York Coaches Razz
"Slip" Madigan Of St.
Marys College Team

Coach Lou Little Questions
Decision Of Officials In Play At Ann Arbor

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports
Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Having been touched in a tender spot by the rather belittling developments of the week end, some of the football coaches hereabouts evidently decided today to drop all that horse-drawn about the grand old game and its superb fellowship, and have broken out in an awful blotch.

"N. Y. coach razz Madigan," carols one headline in a morning paper. "Little asks probe of Michigan defeat," says another. It's beginning to look as though the boys have abandoned the fine ideals of insincerity and are settling down to some good, old-fashioned candor.

Peculiar Play
The "Michigan probe" thing is new to me. I wasn't there, so I don't pretend to pass upon the questioned play, which seems to have concerned itself with the act of Radville, Michigan, in downing a punt. It seems that he fell upon the ball on the 1-yard line and slid with it into the end zone, which appears to have given New York critics the idea that the ball should have gone out to the 20-yard line as a touchback. They say the play didn't belong one yard from the goal. It's the first time I ever heard anyone argue that a ball is dead at the end of a slide.

Anyhow, Lou Little was represented as having spent the day trying to get in touch with commissioner Walter Oakeson about it, although I don't know exactly what this could lead to. Maybe they expected Oakeson to telephone a correction to Ann Arbor. Besides, I seem to remember a second Michigan touchdown.

Razz For Madigan

The other difficulty actually involves two Notre Dame pals and well wishers and—eh, yes—pals. "Frankly," Jimmy Crowley, Fordham coach, is quoted as saying, "I was very much relieved when St. Mary's kicked that second field goal. They should have passed or punted out of bounds, keeping our backs to the wall. I said so at the time and you can prove it by the Fordham bench."

Benny Friedman, C. C. N. Y. coach and former Michigan quarterback, said something of the same sort. What Slip Madigan, St. Mary's coach, might have said could not be learned, as he was on his way west. It's possible he might have pointed out that the only way he could have seemed smart to his critics here would have involved a violation of the rule against coaching from the sidelines.

It's also possible that he might have said something of a fairly embittered nature about other matters. For one thing, he is understood to have been considerably distressed by the ball park people charging 25 per cent of the receipts for rental.

Lot Of Penalties
For another, there was the Fordham line shift. I hate generalizations but it seems to me that nobody uses the line shift nowadays except as a confession of weakness. They hope to get away with something. That is to say, head linesman Austin Lake, an alert and very competent official, kept calling them all day. But, in the end, the Fordham line outlasted him.

He was chided for penalizing the home team 105 yards. It could have been 205, if it wasn't for the fact that the bill said this was a one-day ball game, not a serial.

Minnesota Has Lead In Honors

Southern California And Tulane Also Rated Very Highly

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Minnesota continues to hold the lead for mythical national honors followed closely by Southern California, according to the zzzz nation system.

The Gophers' crushing victory over Purdue raised their rating some three points, giving them a clear cut margin over their nearest rivals.

Duke, Michigan State, Notre Dame and Purdue fell away from the leaders in Saturday's defeats. Army was also conspicuously absent due to their victory over an inferior foe.

The first eleven, after October 24 games, are as follows: 1, Minnesota; 2, Southern California; 3, Tulane; 4, Northwestern; 5, Marquette; 6, Yale; 7, Louisiana; 8, Auburn; 9, Pittsburgh; 10, Fordham; 11, Nebraska.

Tech To Battle Purdue Eleven

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—Three Carnegie Tech second-stringers advanced to the opening line-up as Coach Howard Harpster worked out a new backfield combination here today in preparation for Saturday's intercollegiate tilt with Purdue.

The shake-up came on the heels of Carnegie's heart-breaking loss to Holy Cross. The line, from end to end, was untouched by the rejuvenation.

Erie East High Wants Revenge

Setback Suffered By Erie
Last Year Still Ranks,
Kickoff At 8 P. M.

ERIE EAST high school football team is "pointing" for the game with the big "Red Hurricane" eleven here Friday night under the lights at Taggart field.

Coach Jim Hyde has ordered long drills for every evening. The kickoff here at 8 p. m. Friday will find the Erie East even ready and anxious to get at the business. The defeat of 14 to 0 hung on the Lake Erie boys last year by the Castles still ranks. They want to do something about it.

Coach Hyde was an interested spectator at the New Castle-Warren game and knows that New Castle has a real football team if they play like they are capable of. Of course, injuries make the locals look none too good in the Warren victory.

Two In Row.
The New Castle "cripples" have been out two nights now, on the practice field and have hobbled through rehearsals. There is no chance of Albert, the big tackle, being in shape for the Erie East game. Mumford's injured leg is being worked on by Trainer Ted Lewis and he promises to have the fine little signal caller ready for action on Friday.

The "Canes" would like to make it two in a row over the Easterns. There is no reason why they can't do it, if they just make up their minds. The game Friday may be fought in the clouds. East high has a fine passing attack and so does New Castle when they use them.

In event of good weather the stadium should see another banner crowd this week. The New Castle team has played before close to 50,000 persons in the night home games this year. Not bad, did you say?

IN SPORTS' LAND HERE AND THERE

While the amateurs were exchanging blows here last night, Jackie Carter, of Texas, was punching a decision over Lloyd Pine, of Akron, in a 10-round bout at Pittsburgh. Carter was given a split decision which means that the referee was handed to Carter. There were as many fans at the amateur bouts here as there were at the professional bout, according to reports. Bobby Vargo, of Philadelphia, proved no match for Jackie Wilson in the other 10-round bout, although it went the limit. At Youngstown the colored bean-pole, Jack Trammel, captured the 10-round award from Art Sykes, of Chicago. There were 1,000 fans present and the decision was booted. Trammel took seven of the 10 rounds, according to reports. Trammel was almost out in the fourth and was on Uneasy Street in the ninth.

Ed Spooner, champion bicycle rider of the late nineteenth century and a pioneer motorist, died Monday at Hawthorne, N. Y. He was 68 and a native of Batavia, Ill. He was founder and former vice president and advertising manager of "Motor West", published at Los Angeles.

Fight fans of New Castle will journey to Ellwood City tonight to see an amateur show for the benefit of Paul Kraynak who suffered a fracture of the jaw in a bout with Keith Goodballet several weeks ago at East Liverpool. The bout will be held in the Shelby Social club.

Gray Wins From Frankie Kerrick

Willie Hart Springs Surprise And Defeats Johnny Vargo

MICKIE RUBIN BEATS WALTERS

Eight slambang amateur boxing bouts were staged last night in the Arena Gardens, Neshannock avenue, and in the final setto, Ray Gray, the South Side slugger, scored an impressive three round victory over Frankie Kerrick, of Youngstown. Gray won all of the rounds. They fought in the 160 pound class. Due to counter attractions, the crowd was not as large as during the first show, but indications are that after the political scramble is out of the way boxing will return to its usual normalcy here.

In the opening stanza of the feature bout Gray rocked his foe with a hefty right to the stomach and continued his attack in the second, scoring several hard blows in the mid-section. In the final round Dye Williams' protégé unleashed an attack that had Kerrick in a dazed condition as the bell ended the bout. The semi-final brought together Nate Richardson, of Pittsburgh, tall and rangy, and Joe Charif, of Beaver Falls, heavyweights. The combatants staged a slugfest in the second frame, which aroused the gathering. Richardson let loose a pretty right which nailed Charif and sent him to the floor for a nine count. However, he got up. Richardson won the unanimous decision.

Ruben Is Victorious

Hart Beats Vargo
The fifth encounter resulted in a technical knockout, Earl Donaldson, of Canfield, O., winning over George Davis, of Youngstown, in the 135 pound class, when Davis suffered a cut above the eye in the third round. To save his protegee, Davis' manager stopped the scrap. Both fighters exchanged hefty blows throughout the bout. What proved to be a very good fight was the fourth battle which was between Johnny Vargo, of Youngstown, and Willie Hart, of Pittsburgh, in the 160 pound class. From the time the bell sounded the two batters slugged. In the opening frame Vargo uncoiled a pretty right which had Hart, a colored lad, hanging. The second stanza was a repetition of the first round, with both pugilists scoring viciously. There was enough action in the last round alone to merit the price of admission. Vargo opened up with a barrage of lefts and rights that had Hart hanging on. Hart was in such a condition that one more good blow would have ended the fracas, but Hart let loose a right just as Vargo was rushing towards him, connected and sent Vargo to the canvas in a bewildered condition. Vargo barely managed to finish the bout and was declared the loser.

Patton Also Wins
The third bout saw a former New Castle lad, Jimmy Patton, now of Youngstown, win handily over Johnny Colla, of Youngstown, in the 135 rank. Patton, a replica of

Union-Beaver Play Friday

Head Coach Boyd Drives
Unions Through Severe
Workouts This Week

Beaver, Pa., high school football team will play its first football game with Union high at the Union field on Friday afternoon, it was announced by Head Coach Davey Boyd today.

This will mark the first time that Union and Beaver have ever tangled on the gridiron. Both teams are anxious to make a good showing. Boyd has indicated that there will be several changes in the Union line this week, in an effort to produce better results. Pattison will be shifted to a center post from the full-backing job. King has been shifted from end to fullback.

Several Changes
Captain Fulton will take the blocking half post. The practice all week long according to Boyd will be on blocking and tackling. The Unions have been very weak this week in these two departments.

Jaskolka and Ostrosky will be on the sidelines with injuries. Both boys were injured in the Zellenopie game. Wharry and Stickle who were out of the Zellenopie game with injuries have recovered and will be available for the Beaver battle. Beaver will have the biggest team that Union has hit this year. They use power plays most of the time.

The starting time of the game is 2:30 o'clock.

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Henry Armstrong, former St. Louis newsboy, was a 10 to 8 favorite today to beat Mike Bellosio, of New York, in their 10-round battle here tonight for the featherweight championship of the world.

Bellosio, who has demonstrated terrific punching ability in training, is recognized in New York as the champion, while the little colored boy, now jointly managed by Al Jolson, the singer, and Eddie Maske, has the same recognition in California.

Both fighters are expected to enter the ring at approximately the same weight, 125 pounds.

Titans To Meet Thiel Saturday

Final Home Game For Westminster Occurs This Week End

TITANS HOPEFUL OF TAKING GAME

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 27.—With four defeats in four starts, the Westminster Titans dug their heels into the sod this week, determined to finish the home season with a win against Thiel Saturday set aside as Father's Day on the New Wilmington campus.

Little is known of the strength of Thiel except an 18-9 victory over Clarion Teachers and a 25-0 drubbing at the hands of Bethany, who defeated Westminster 13-6. For the first time this season, the Titans will be doped to win, but Coach George Roark is working hard to build up weaknesses in his blocking and pass-defense departments, since most of the eight Geneva touchdowns Saturday came thru these channels.

The Titans will be without the services of Jim Bailey, backfield veteran from Sharon, who left the Geneva game with a fractured rib, and possibly Youkers, Butler, freshman first-string guard, with a bad knee. Seven Titans are now on the hospital list, including Grubb, end; tackle, Wright, tackle; J. Park, end; and Miller, fullback.

Thiel is a traditional rival of Westminster, in a series that started in 1894 with a bang for the Titans in the form of a 40-0 victory. Westminster has a decided edge in the 32-game series, with 20 wins to nine for Thiel, and three ties.

The game is the last of the season on the Titan home-field, and with the game set aside as Dad's day, the Blue and White are expected to make a concentrated drive to capture the contest.

Bessemer And Shenango High Play On Friday

Bessemer Can Win Class B
Title By Whipping East
New Castle Team

TWO TEAMS ARE BITTER RIVALS

This coming Friday afternoon is one of the most important days of the current football season for Bessemer high and Shenango high, who will do battle on the Bessemer high greenward.

The tussle is the most important one on the grid calendar for the two schoolboy teams. By setting back the East New Castle eleven, Bessemer can capture another Lawrence county class B title while Shenango will only have to trip Union high for the coveted honors, should it defeat the Cement City representatives. Relative to rivalry, there are very few schools in the district who looked forward to the annual battle as the biggest grid feature on the schedule, as do Bessemer and Shenango.

Coach Nocera of Shenango and Coach Fredericks of Bessemer will use every trick in their bag in the hope of victory. Coach Nocera, who is enjoying his first year at the East New Castle school, believes he has a good chance of stopping the rush of the other two teams. Union has already been disposed of by the Cement City. The first workout of the week-end has been chalked up and not until Thursday afternoon will the gridders call it quits.

Junior High Game Friday

Franklin High Will Play At George Washington In City Title Game

There will be a lot of activity around the George Washington High athletic field this week. Friday afternoon the North Hillers will meet the Ben Franklins of the East Side in the second of a series for the City Junior High title. The kickoff will be at 3:45 o'clock. Mahoning Junior High having upset the Washingtons, will be idle this week as the two rivals clash. Next week the Mahonings will meet Franklin High.

Watch Ciazza
Coach Art Alexander will give the Washingtons several hard workouts this week. This is the game that the North Hill boys want to win. The Franklins have been undefeated since losing to Ellwood City on October 17 in 1934, and have won 12 straight games since that time. They hope to make it 13 straight Friday. The Franklins, according to Assistant Coach Bill Wallace, have scored 50 points this year and have been scored on for 8 points by the opposition. The two Franklin stars who will cause the Washingtons a lot of trouble are Eddie Sowinski and Sam Ciazza, the latter boy is reported one of the best looking grid prospects in years at Franklin high.

Ellwood Chamber Of Commerce Has Dinner Tuesday

Over 100 Attend First Gathering Of Type At Elks Club On Monday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 27.—Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce held its first monthly dinner meeting of the year Monday night in the Elks club with over 100 in attendance. President C. Z. Bell presided on the occasion and gave an inspirational talk and gave an account of the chamber in the past few weeks, and improvements sponsored by the chamber in the past few weeks, and of the spirit shown by the organization in this work.

After the dinner Secretary of the Chamber, Denny Schill gave an encouraging report. He pointed out that the enrollment of the organization is 250, which has climbed from 172 since Sept. 1. He congratulated the membership committee for their fine work. Secretary Schill stated that the old Stronach Nail property is being petitioned for sale and is in the hands of its creditors. He stressed that definite action should be taken towards this within a week.

Mr. Schill has informed the chamber that inquiry has been made by a pants factory for a possible location in Ellwood City. The concern would employ 200 girls. The Industrial committee will meet with the owners of the factory to draw up preliminary plans.

Those present were informed that the booklet on Ellwood is in the hands of the printers and will be off the press in ten days. The booklet will bring out all the facts about Ellwood City. An election of four directors on the Board of Directors in the Chamber of Commerce will take place in the near future. The first ballot will go out to each member the latter part of November. The traffic committee reported that it has received 18 Sam Brown belts with fast buckles and white in color. These will be given to the school traffic boys. The funds for this were raised through the school, chamber and borough.

Thomas Patterson was presented with the key to the city for turning in the best civic idea of the month. He suggested the painting of the back of the "Ellwood" sign on Fifth street and Lawrence avenue, the words, "Ellwood City Business Section—Smile and Live." This key will be the prize for the best suggestion next month.

The meeting was then turned over to Bob Thompson, chairman of the entertainment committee, who presented David Aiken of this city. He rendered three fine vocal numbers accompanied by Robert Stevenson. Nellie Brady and her dancing revue of New Castle, then entertained the gathering with some clever novelty dance numbers.

The next meeting of this type by the chamber will be on Dec 1 in the form of a joint football banquet for the high school team and school officials.

Last Rites For Accident Victim

Burial Of Garth C. Campbell Takes Place On Monday Afternoon In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 27.—Funeral services for Garth C. Campbell of near Castlewood, who was instantly killed on Friday evening in an automobile accident in this city, were held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the VanGorder funeral home in Fifth street.

The services were very largely attended by a wide circle of bereaved relatives and friends. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem and affection of which he was held. Relatives attended from Detroit, Mich., Emlenton, Butler, Prospect and this vicinity.

Rev. T. C. Ellenberger of Beaver Falls, a former pastor of the Christian Alliance church of Castlewood, had charge of the services assisted by Rev. W. E. Minter of the U. P. church.

He is survived by his father, George Campbell, of Castlewood; two brothers, Russell A. Campbell, of Ellport, and Karlton G. Campbell, of Castlewood, and two sisters, Mrs. William Manning, of Franklin avenue, and Mrs. R. J. Burghman, of Detroit, Mich.

Two appropriate selections, "Good Night and Good Morning" and "Some Time We'll Understand", were contributed by Loena and Blanche Lutz.

Interment was made in the Harmony Baptist cemetery with Charles and Clyde Young, Don and DuWayne Campbell and Harold and Raymond McClintock, as pallbearers.

Two judgments Are Settled By Court Approval

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—Federal Judge Nelson McVicar today approved the petition of Charles E. Ketterer, receiver for the insolvent First National bank of Ellwood City, to settle judgments against two persons.

The court approved the request to sell property in Chestown, Wayne township, formerly owned by Giuseppe Maletta, to John Frickmanish for $1,600. Maletta lost the property when he fell in arrears on a $2,000 mortgage and judgment.

The court also affirmed the settlement of Galina's Ursu's note for $250 by selling the collateral—five shares of U. S. Steel stock—to the Ellwood City Building and Loan association.

"Gone with the Wind" catches the spirit of the Old South. It seems to chatter endlessly without getting anywhere.

Big Crowd Will Attend Amateur Fights Tonight

Benefit Bouts For Injured Local Amateur Boxer Promise Action At Shelby

SWEENEY-GEIDL IN MAIN BOUT HERE

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 27.—Paul Kravak of this city and one of the leading amateur middleweights in this district, who was seriously injured in a bout several weeks ago will be the beneficiary in an amateur fight show at the Shelby auditorium this evening at 8:15.

The public and amateur fighters of the district are cooperating together to put the show across in order that a nice sum can be turned over to Kravak to meet medical expenses. Matchmaker Joe Latiano has lined up a top notch card which promises action from beginning to end.

Several fast and well matched preliminary bouts will lead up to a glorious climax. The card of eight bouts is sprinkled with a number of champions who are anxious to display how they attained their titles. To demonstrate the type of preliminaries arranged by Matchmaker Joe Latiano fans are urged to watch the bout between Rich Gregory of Butler, who needs no introduction here, and Joe Pecora of Pittsburgh. These two have never met in the ring before and both are lads with a record and reputation. The semi-finals are expected to be a "naural" when Emil Joseph, Pittsburgh A. M. A. champion and Carmen Netch, also of Pittsburgh, will exchange leather.

The main bout of the evening will bring together Leo Sweeney of Pittsburgh, state welterweight champion, who had reached the finals in the national tournament, and the man who has been bounding him for two years, John Geidl of McKees Rocks. Time and again the latter has been a runner-up to Sweeney in close hard battles and feels that tonight is his night.

The affair opened with the singing of "America" by the assemblage, to be followed by the invocation. ## "Open House" At Local Navy Station

Local Naval Office Celebrates Navy Day, Visitors Welcomed

Today the local recruiting office of the United States Navy is holding an "open house" for citizens of New Castle to call and inspect the local station in the new post office building.

Maury L. Nixon, local recruiting officer, is the genial host to the visitors and is presenting souvenir booklets containing a brief but complete history of the navy and covers in a most interesting manner the chief naval battles in the history of the United States Navy.

These books are being distributed free to all those who visit the station and they prove to be very handy reference books.

The cause of the "open house" today is the fact that today all over the United States is being celebrated as Navy Day, and all recruiting stations and navy ships have been thrown open for public inspection. All ships stationed near the coast of the United States are today welcoming visitors.

Nixon has on display a great deal of literature which makes very interesting reading matter and contains material which every American citizen should possess in order to have a full understanding of the navy.

Shaughnessy Is New President

Former Montreal Manager Elected As President Of International League

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Frank Shaughnessy, father of the playoff plan in use in numerous minor leagues, today was elected president of the International baseball league. George Weiss of the Newark club was named vice president.

Shaughnessy, who left the International league in November to become business manager of the Cincinnati National League club, assumed the leadership of the International League following the death of Charles Knapp last July.

Shaughnessy and Weiss will take office on November 1. The league voted to open on April 22, a later date than usual, and to play 154 games. No action was taken on the playoffs and it is presumed the prevailing system will be continued.

Shaughnessy was business manager of the Montreal club for four years, and in 1935-36 was manager of the Royals. He severed his connection with Montreal in mid-season.

Charge Renkin 'Fixed' Clearing House Records

Was Able To Make Cleanup In "Numbers" Racket In Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—George Renkin, 32 year old playboy-banker, who with a confederate faces sentence to jail tomorrow following his plea of guilty to embezzling $54,000 from the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company today was painted by detectives as a "financial wizard" who "fixed" clearing house figures to net himself huge winnings in the "numbers" racket.

It was in his position as head of the Trust Company's clearing house department that he was able to juggle the figures on which the "numbers racket" pays off, county detectives said. His companion in the self-confessed embezzlement, Roger Schmidt, 22, another employee of the bank was not mixed up in the "numbers" fixing, authorities said. Renkin, it was stated, operated that lucrative plan as a "sideline" detective quoted Renkin as admitting.

The youthful embezzler, whose alleged record when his wife reported her husband's huge spending to District Attorney Andrew T. Park allegedly squandered the money thus gained on Kitty McCann, 25 year old playgirl now awaiting trial as Renkin's accomplice.

Upset because the New York clearing house for a time withheld publication of its daily figures, racketeers in the area based their pay-off on three figures in the daily total exchanges of the Pittsburgh clearing house association. Each morning representatives of Pittsburgh's ten largest banks meet to exchange checks deposited in their banks the day before.

Renkin, as his company's representative at these daily conferences was enabled, detectives said, by changing his own totals, to fix the final figure to coincide with his "numbers" selection. On one occasion, it was said, he reaped a $1,600 profit by this method, and was said to have won, over a period of time, many thousands of dollars in this fashion.

Pivotal Groups Carry
Market Higher

By LESLIE GOULD

International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A recovery movement, led by pivotal groups, carried the stock market 1 to 2 points higher today.

An overnight accumulation of buying orders, particularly in steels, rails, motors and oils, stimulated by the continued bright business picture brought a marked uptrend.

Steel shares recovered sharply. The U. S. Steel dividend meeting is scheduled for this afternoon and Wall Street is looking for the regular preferred rate of $1.75 a share. The common jumped more than a point, while Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube gained about as much.

Chrysler rebounded almost two points while General Motors rose a point. Large fractional gains were registered by Nash and Studebaker in the lower-priced bracket.

Southern Pacific spurred a point in rails, while Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central and Baltimore & Ohio chalked up slightly lesser gains.

Other good gainers included Greyhound, up 2. Deere almost as much, and Westinghouse, Western Union, Electric Auto-Lite, Consolidated Edison and Kelvinox, each of which were more than a point higher.

Bonds also showed improvement, ruling generally higher in moderate dealings. Grains and cotton inclined to lower levels.

English Sermons Sunday Mornings At German Church

Except First And Second Sundays, English Language Will Be Used

The Emmanuel Evangelical church constituency, located south of the new postoffice, on South Jefferson street, has voted a radical change in policy and for the first time sermons are to be delivered regularly in English each Sunday morning with the exception of the first two of every month.
For some time the wisdom of a change from the German to English language has been presenting itself. The children and young people of the church are no longer familiar with the language of their elders and it has been realized that sooner or later concessions would become necessary.

At the services last Sunday morning the German contingent of the congregation which for years had been having German worship on Sunday mornings, voted that henceforth they would yield all except the first and second Sundays in each month for English service. There were only a few dissenting votes. This action means a great sacrifice for some of the older members but they made it in the interest of their own as well as unchurched people in New Castle.
Emmanuel Evangelical church is one of the older downtown churches, having come into existence in 1858. German services were begun in the building of the reformed Presbyterian congregation in Randallstown and later continued in the old stone church where the First M. E. now stands. Soon afterward the abandoned church building of the First Christian congregation, then located on East North street, was purchased and moved to the southwest corner of Elm and West Falls streets. This building was sold and still stands on the rear of the lot of which it had been moved and is now a private garage.

In 1880 the congregation purchased the lot at South Jefferson and West South streets and erected the building which still serves and which has become a landmark in the downtown section. All services and the Bible school were conducted exclusively in the German language until about 20 years ago when English services were arranged for Sunday night.
The congregation is now 78 years old and is looking forward to the future with renewed enthusiasm. Rev. J. George Knippel, Th. D., is pastor, serving his fifth year in that capacity. At the recent conference session the presiding bishop, Rev. J. S. Stamm, M. A. D. D., L. L. D. returned the pastor to the local congregation.

Suffers Injury In Fall At Play

Englewood Avenue Boy Receives Lacerations Of Head Last Evening
While playing about a new house near his home last evening, Master John E. McNeil, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McNeil, of Englewood avenue, fell and received a laceration of the head and slight concussion.
He was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he is undergoing treatment. It was stated this morning that he had a fair night.

Yet those who raided the Treasury will cuss Wall Street when the size of the debt causes a smash.
